GEORGIA CONTEST BEFORE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

City Ownership of Utilities Urged

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR CITY MANAGER RULE FOR ATLANTA

Draft of Proposed New Charter Submitted at Meeting of Citizens' Committee Held Last Night.

BILL TO BE SUBMITTED TO STATE LEGISLATURE

Draft Provides for Election by City-at-Large of Nine Councilmen, Who Will Name Manager.

Power to purchase, hire, construct, own, maintain and operate or lease local public utilities is one of the most salient features in the plan of municipal government embodied in the proposed new charter for the city of Atlanta, modelled in the city manager form, which was presented last night, in summary, to the citizens' committee which has been fostering its adoption.

The final draft of the new charter is ready, after several weeks' work by a committee appointed for the purpose and acting in co-ordination with Dr. A. R. Hatton, of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the nation's foremost municipal experts.

It was decided at the meeting Friday night to present the bill to change the charter of the city to the legislature next Monday, and to ask permission of the city democratic executive committee to present it for the vote of the people in the approaching primary of July 26. In the event that the executive committee of the city fails to allow the vote the bill will be presented to the legislature with a provision calling for a referendum to the people of Atlanta, so that they may express their opinion on the movement, it was said at the meeting.

CITY MANAGER FORM URGED.

The final draft presented Friday night calls for the city manager form of government, with nine councilmen elected from the city-at-large, who in turn appoint a city manager and fix his salary. Officials of the city are to be appointed by the city manager, and the line of responsibility directed through him to the council and then to the people by the machinery evolved by the new charter. Terms of service are indefinite in all instances, dependent on good service. Councilmen, however, are elected for three-year terms, but may be recalled.

The only other elective officers in the city government under the proposed charter are the members of the school board, five in number. The school board, under the new system, will direct the educational system, appointing a superintendent of schools, teachers and such employees as are necessary to the system. The physical plants of the educational system will be under the supervision of the department under the city manager having to do with construction and maintenance of public buildings and grounds, in the proposed plan. The appropriation for schools is increased in the charter from 22½ per cent of the city's income to 30 per cent, exclusive of the estimated incomes from loans and from municipally-owned utilities.

A mayor will be elected, under the proposed charter, from the personnel of the council, by the council, and will serve as the ceremonial head of the city. Maximum salaries of $600 per year are provided for the members of council, with the provision that they be fined $10 for each non-appearance at meetings of the body which are designated as weekly.

The plan is that the charter be in effect for the purposes of nominating and electing candidates for office from and after its adoption and for all other purposes, to be in effect on the first Monday in January, 1921.

WARD SYSTEM ELIMINATED.

The ward system of the city is eliminated in the proposed city plan, except for facility in conducting the actual machinery of elections. All elections are from the city-at-large under the proposed system.

Another interesting feature of the proposed charter is that it provides a means of recall of all elected officials. With regard to this feature, the resume of the charter says:

Atlanta's Curb Market to Open Early Saturday

Hundreds Are Expected to Be Among Those Present in Effort to Give Blow at H. C. L.

If the city's curb market that opens this morning at 7 o'clock at Courtland and Wilmer streets, opposite the City Auditorium, is not a success it will not be the fault of

(1) The mayor and council, who are legislating for its benefit; (2) the police, who are protecting it; (3) the press, who are advertising it all over Georgia; (4) the military camps and the American Legion, who are sending brass bands and uniformed representatives to animate the scene; (5) the Woman's club and other civic organizations, who are backing it not only morally, but practically as cash customers ready to make their own deliveries; (6) the photographers and movie men, who will be present in large numbers; (7) the farmers and their hired help, who are furnishing the fuel for this new engine for the destruction of high prices, and (8) the hungry and expectant public which will march to the curb market with its hand on its pocketbook or checkbook, as the case may be, ready for the great operations in the country produce trade.

As The Constitution goes to press everything is in readiness for the great event, and it is quite possible that there are some farmers' wagons already moving toward the Atlanta mart. Pickpockets, too, will be practicing deft tricks to play on the purchasing crowds, just as they did at Fair Price Commissioner Manget's fish sales some weeks ago, when hundreds of dollars were taken from innocent housewives.

There is nothing more to be said until the results of the sale are known. Come early, say the managers of the market; come early and avoid the last-hour rush. Seven a. m. will not be too early for the countrymen who are bringing their produce to you. Make your purchases quickly; do not obstruct the aisles for those who come after you, and thus help to make the market a grand success.

This Censor Flees From Shapely Knees; He's Hard to Please

BY HUDSON HAWLEY,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, June 25.—Just picture, girls, the awful plight of Mister Howard Figg, engaged in swatting H. C. L., and with it all, no prig. The National Garment Retail folks today sent models fair to see the foresaid Mister Figg in Mitchell Palmer's lair.

These mannequins, in knee-length gowns, were beauteous to behold; their underpinning shapely left naught further to be told. "What Ho! Look well!" their mentors cried. "Here's clothing conservation! If we can keep styles short this fall, much jack we'll save the nation."

But Figg looked up, and Figg looked down, and mainly down looked he. He lamped beneath each kilt-like skirt a neatly dimpled knee. Attorney General's aides are calm, and masterful of pose; but with the stirring of a breeze, H. Figg let forth this noise:

"No! No! No! No! It can't be so! Far better that girls pay what now they must for garments, than to go about this way! This is not darkest Africa, nor yet a Scottish moor; knees must be draped in these here states, though prices keep us poor. You might get by with skirts like that in France, at Longchamps races: but in the dry old U. S. A., you can't kick over the traces."

Then Figg turned pink. Then Figg turned red, and murmured "Pressing business." "Oh, do stay and be filmed with us!" the models cried; but dizziness had seized the foe of H. C. L., and out a door he hustled; so girls, next fall you'll have to dress like grandma, all be-bustled!

CROWELL LEAVES WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington, June 25.—Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war, has resigned, effective July 1. He plans to enter private business.

The resignation has been accepted by President Wilson.

Mr. Crowell entered the army as major of ordnance early in the war and was assigned to duty in connection with the creation of facilities for the manufacture of arms. Later, as assistant secretary of war, he was given practically complete charge of the munitions program. Since the armistice he has directed industrial demobilization and supervised settlement of war claims and contracts.

His successor is expected to be appointed by the president within a few days.

PROBE OF RECORDS BEFORE BALLOTING URGED BY LEGION

Members of Atlanta Post No. 1 Asked to Learn Attitude of All Men Asking for Office.

HARDWICK AND SMITH ASSAILED AT MEETING

Former Senator Bitterly Attacked for Unpatriotic Attitude—Members of Post Discuss Meeting Place.

A resolution prompted by the resentment of a large number of the members present against Senator Hoke Smith and former Senator T. W. Hardwick was passed by Atlanta Post, No. 1, of the American Legion, at a meeting held last night at Cable hall, and which about 150 Legionnaires were present.

Hardwick and Smith were freely mentioned by the members on the floor in connection with the purport of the resolution, Hardwick particularly and bitterly, for their "unpatriotic" attitude on legislation in support of the army and the cause of the allies.

After mentioning the importance to the voters of Georgia of the character, record and affiliations of those seeking office at the coming fall elections, the resolution reads:

Resolution Passed.

"Be it resolved, That Atlanta post, No. 1, of the American Legion, recommends to all Georgians, and particularly to the members of the American Legion, that they scan with great care the records of all candidates in regard to the following matters:

"1. Their attitude toward the war with Germany.

"2. Their attitude toward the draft act.

"3. Their attitude toward the acts passed for the more vigorous prosecution of the war.

"4. Their affiliations, political and otherwise, with persons whose attitude was known to be hostile to the war and the acts passed for the prosecution of the war."

The resolution was offered by George M. Wilson, vice commander of the post, who stated that the legion is not a political organization, a fact well known to its members; but that it stands for political principles; that men in uniform and not in uniform fought and worked for the support of those principles, both abroad and at home; that other men in uniform and not in uniform obstructed the prosecution of the campaign in defense of such principles, and he asked that the post not only pass the resolution, but instruct its delegates to the state convention to be held in Augusta during July to present this or a similar resolution to that body.

A motion was made for adoption, immediately after which about 90 per cent of the members on the floor jumped to second it, and the vote that was cast after the preliminary remarks was sonorous and unanimous.

Attack on Hardwick.

Stephens Mitchell, who, according to his own statement, was a former admirer and supporter of Hardwick, made an extremely caustic attack on the men in high office during the recent campaign who were derelict in their support of the army and its cause, concluding with the remark that "there is one man I have admired and supported in the past for whom I am not voting this fall."

Harry A. Alexander, chairman of the building committee, provoked considerable discussion on the question of a permanent home for the post, and a suggestion from Claude C. Smith that the legion demand a meeting place, either in the Auditorium or some other suitable building from the city fathers, and stated that their number as voters at the city elections was sufficient to warrant attention. Nine-tenths of those present signified their willingness to buy building shares to the value of at least $50 each for the acquisition of a club house, and the matter was referred to a committee to be hereafter appointed by the commander to take the matter up.

The report of the nomination committee, headed by Dr. W. C. Lyle, recommending the names of delegates to the state convention of the legion, was adopted with minor variations, and resulted in the naming of the following representatives to be sent to the Augusta meet:

Seeking Knowledge To Care for Mother, Brines Stole a Book

Intended to Use Knowledge in Earning More Money—Machinist by Day, University Student by Night.

New York, June 25.—A search for knowledge that he might "beat the game of life" and earn more money with which to care for his mother, dying of tuberculosis, caused the arrest here today of Benjamin S. Brines, 20, machinist by day and New York university student by night. He was charged with the theft of a book from the New York public library.

Two years ago, he told the magistarte before whom he was arraigned, "through straightened circumstances, which you will agree are often caused by lack of knowledge," his sister died. Then his mother became ill and it was necessary to send her to the mountains.

"If I knew what I should have known," he said, "things would be better for her."

Reosvled to learn these things, Brines said, he started a course at Stevens institute, but the tuition fees were too expensive and he was forced to quit. Then he sought the library and there obtained books on evolution, economics and government, which he studied nights. Some he kept until "fines" were due the library. Unable to pay the charges, he drew other books under fictitious names and did not return them. Today, a special policeman from the library searched his home and found the books. His arrest followed.

"If it is a crime to steal knowledge," he admitted, "then I will plead guilty."

He was held pending an investigation of the case.

Heroine Fires Pistol At Villain; Real Bullet Hits Man in Wings

Chicago, June 25.—"The Surprise," a vaudeville sketch playing at the Palace theater, proved a real surprise at today's performance when Kitty Gordon, the star, accidentally shot Joe A. Hack, an acrobat. Hack was taken to the St. Luke hospital with a bullet in the arm.

Miss Gordon, in the sketch, fires a pistol at the "villain," played by Frank Griffin.

A real bullet was in the pistol today and when the shot was fired, Hack, standing in the wings, fell to the floor.

Questioned by Police Chief Garrity, Miss Gordon said she did not known the bullet was in the cylinder. She said she used another pistol as a protection against jewel thieves and kept it in her dressing room. It is thought that a cartridge was inserted in the "property" pistol by mistake.

Miss Gordon was released.

The "daughter" whom she "protects" in the sketch, is her own daughter, Miss Beresford.

Hack lives in Milwaukee.

IOWA DELEGATES ROBBED ON WAY TO CONVENTION

Des Moines, Iowa, June 25.—Several Iowa democrats on the special train en route to the national convention at San Francisco telegraphed home today for money. According to reports here, thieves entered one of the cars in the train at some place between Grand Junction, Colo., and Green River, Wyo., and stole about $1,000.

H. F. Shoemaker, of Council Bluffs, a United States marshal, Sheriff W. A. Hogan, of Anamosa, and Jack Brophy, chief of the Des Moines detective force, were among those in the robbed car.

No Money for Damages To Motor Vehicles Hit By Government Trucks

Washington, June 25.—Damages asked by owners of motor vehicles in collision with government mail trucks cannot be paid because of absence of any funds for reimbursement, James S. Blaksley, fourth assistant postmaster general, declared today in a letter to H. B. Leary, Jr., of this city, following a claim by the latter for damages.

Only an appropriation by a special act of congress could meet the situation, the assistant postmaster general said.

THREE AIRMEN KILLED AT PARIS ISLAND

Savannah, Ga., June 25.—In an airplane crash at Paris Island this afternoon, Lieutenant Frederick Malthen, Lieutenant S. E. St. George and Captain Gustave Karow, of Savannah, were killed, according to a long distance telephone message from the Paris Island marine barracks tonight.

The machine was about four hundred feet in the air when it was observed to be in trouble. While descending and within a hundred feet of the ground, the airplane burst into flames and crashed to earth. Captain Karow was a native of Savannah.

DEMOCRATS DRIVE TO GET BALLOT FOR THE WOMEN

National Committee Appeals to Tennessee Governor to Call Special Session to Ratify Amendment.

NORTH CAROLINA URGED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Governor Bickett Is Told That Action of Legislature on the Amendment Will Be of "Critical Importance."

Auditorium, San Francisco, June 25.—The democratic national committee unanimously agreed to send a telegram to the governor of Tennessee urging a special session of the legislature to ratify the federal suffrage amendment.

There was vigorous applause when Chairman Cummings suggested the sending of a telegram to Governor Roberts, of Tennessee, urging him to call a special session of the legislature to ratify the federal suffrage amendment. The suggestion was unanimously adopted.

Following is the telegram sent to the governor of Tennessee:

"Governor Albert H. Roberts,
"State Capitol, Nashville, Tenn.

"The democratic national committee, at its meeting held today by unanimous vote directed me, as chairman of the committee, to send you the following message:

"We most earnestly emphasize the extreme importance and urgency of an immediate meeting of your state legislature for the purpose of ratifying the proposed nineteenth amendment to the federal constitution. The eyes of millions of women throughout the country are turned toward Tennessee as the one state that can and will enfranchise them prior to the November election, thus becoming the thirty-sixth state to ratify the suffrage amendment.

"We trust that for the present all other legislative matters may if necessary be held in abeyance, and that you will call an extra session of the legislature of your state for such brief duration as may be required to act favorably on the amendment. Tennessee occupies a position of peculiar and pivotal importance and one that enables her to render a service of incalculable value to the women of America. We confidently expect therefore under your leadership, and through the action of the legislature of your state the women of the nation may be given the privilege of voting in the coming presidential election.

"HOMER S. CUMMINGS,
"Chairman National Committee."

CALL TO NORTH CAROLINA BY PRESIDENT WILSON.

Washington, June 25.—President Wilson has sent messages to Governor Bickett and Senators Simmons and Overman, of North Carolina, suggesting that he need not point out to them the "critical importance" of the action of the North Carolina legislature on the federal suffrage amendment when the assembly meets in special session next month.

The message to Governor Bickett follows:

"I am sure I need not point out to you the critical importance of the action of your great state in the matter of suffrage amendment."

The president previously had asked Governor Roberts, of Tennessee, to call a special session of the Tennessee legislature to act on the amendment. The president's message was sent after Acting Attorney General Frierson had ruled that the supreme court decision in the Ohio referendum case had invalidated the section of the Tennessee constitution prohibiting the legislature from passing on an amendment if the members were elected before the amendment was submitted to the state.

Governor Bickett Not Happy.

Raleigh, N. C., June 25.—Commenting today on a telegram he received last night from President Wilson in which the president said he was sure he need not point out the "critical importance of the action of your state in the matter of the suffrage amendment," Governor Bickett said he hoped the Tennessee legislature would meet in special session and ratify the amendment and thereby relieve North Carolina of doing it.

"We have neither the time nor the money and such action on the part of Tennessee would save this state the feeling of bitterness that would surely be engendered by debate on the subject that would come up in our legislature"

"I have said all I intend saying on the subject of ratification," Governor Bickett stated to newspaper men last night. "While I will take my medicine, I will never swear that it tastes good, for it doesn't."

LEGAL FOR TENNESSEE TO RATIFY AMENDMENT.

Nashville, Tenn., June 25.—In an opinion made public today, Frank M. Thompson, attorney general of Tennessee, holds that the present legislature if called in extra ses-

Danger Is Averted of General Strike By Rail Workers

Labor Board Announces on or Before July 20 New Wage Scales Will Be Announced for the 4,000,000 Workers on Railroads.

BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS SEEM TO BE SATISFIED

And Say That Announcement Averts Danger of Nation-Wide Strike. Decision Retroactive to May 1.

Chicago, June 25.—The United States railroad labor board will announce its decision on the new wage scales to be granted 4,000,000 railroad workers on July 20, according to an announcement today by Chairman R. M. Barton.

The decision will be retroactive to May 1.

Officials of the railway brotherhoods, who waited anxiously for the board's announcement, said that this action has probably averted a widespread strike of railroad workers, which, they said, outlaw organizations had been planning to start Saturday at midnight.

The statement follows:

"The chairman is authorized to say the board is earnestly and actively engaged in working out and formulating a decision, having agreed on a method of working out the problem. It takes time and great care to formulate a decision which can be clearly understood and applied without doubt or practical difficulty. The board and all its forces are so engaged and are not losing an hour.

"The board will announce a decision on and possibly before July 20, 1920. This decision when made will take effect as on and of May 1, 1920."

Brotherhood Chiefs Satisfied.

Brotherhood officials expressed themselves as satisfied with the decision of the board, especially as the new scales are to be retroactive to May 1.

"We believe that this action will avert a strike by thousands of men, acting independently," said Timothy Shea, head of the Brotherhood of Engineers. "We have done everything we have been able to do to avert a widespread strike. The big four brotherhoods have expelled more than 60,000 of their members for joining unauthorized strikes, but the rank and file of the men are now demanding immediate action."

Similar sentiment was expressed by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Mr. Lee said that secret plans had been made by a disaffected union eleemnt to spread the strike throughout the country because of the continued delay in announcing the wage ruling.

"The men would have quit at midnight tomorrow night," Mr. Lee said. "It was impossible to hold them longer. Men of my organization have been waiting patiently for nearly a year."

Decision Result of Warning.

"Was the decision the result of a wafning of a probable strike brought by you and your associates to the board?" Lee was asked.

"You can draw your own conclusions as to that," he answered.

In a later statement Mr. Lee declared that "even the most conservative members of these organizations lately have been bitterly complaining of the delays and insist upon a decision."

"Now that it has been definitely decided that an award will be handed down not later than July 20," the statement continued, "we urge our members to continue to carry out their obligations to their organizations and the contract relations with the employers as the most effective means of helping the situation."

General chairmen of the fifteen recognized railroad organizations will meet in Chicago July 19 to consider and pass upon awards by the board, it was announced.

W. N. Doak, vice president of the railway trainmen's organization, declared the board had demonstrated the futility of such methods of settling wage disputes.

"The board members are sitting as advocates," he said, "instead of as judges."

Lee Blames Wilson.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and spokesman for the union leaders, laid responsibility for the present

GEORGIA POLITICS IN THE SPOTLIGHT AT SAN FRANCISCO

Rival Delegations Arrive Few Hours Apart, All Primed for the Contest for Convention Seats.

GEORGIANS ARE SEEING SAN FRANCISCO SIGHTS

Several Members of the Smith-Watson Delegation Not Present—Practically All Palmer Delegates on Hand.

By James A. Hollomon.

San Francisco, Cal., June 25.—(Special.)—San Francisco became the storm center of Georgia politics today when the Watson-Smith contestants for seats on the floor of the national democratic convention breezed into the convention city during the forenoon, followed in the late afternoon by three private cars filled with the regular or Palmer delegation. From that state in both parties there were a number of ladies and tonight the contesting delegates and friends are fraternizing in the hotels and cafes of the city, engaged in the interesting and single-minded pursuit of seeing the metropolis of the Pacific slope under and around the white lights.

Hearing This Morning.

At the meeting of the democratic national committee this afternoon the hearing of the Georgia contest was set for 10 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning, and at that time the fireworks of the convention activities will begin. The hearing will be before the full committee, and both sides will be given ample time in reason to present their respective cases, although National Committeeman Clark Howell explained to the committee that as far as the regular delegation was concerned it would simply rely upon presentation of facts, which could be done in ten minutes, and that no recourse to legal formalities nor to a trial by lawyers would be required.

The Rival Delegations.

The contestants will be represented by a coterie of lawyers headed by ex-Senator Hardwick, Albert Foster, Felix Jackson, B. M. Blackburn and others. The contesting delegation is headed by Charles S. Barrett and several members of the delegation appointed by the Watson-Smith controlled convention are not here. The regular or Palmer delegation is headed by Colonel P. A. Stovall, of Savannah; H. N. Randolph, of Atlanta; H. H. Dean, of Gainesville, and others, practically all of the delegation being on the ground except Phil McDuffie, secretary, who was unable to come. Lee Langley, of Rome, was made secretary at a conference of the delegation en route to the convention city.

Candidates and Platform.

Speculation continues as to what the convention will ultimately do with candidates and a platform, with two added features to accentuate interest that has already reached white heat. One of them is the appearance of Attorney General Mitchell Palmer on the scene and the enormous jump in Palmer stock, and the other is the arrival of William J. Bryan, who comes to antagonize the administration and to attempt to force a dry plank into the platform.

In the first instance, Mr. Palmer had the misfortune to be the leading candidate on the opening ballots which frequently in national political conventions seems to verify the old adage that a good beginning makes a poor ending. In the latter instance, this convention is unquestionably disposed to block Mr. Bryan at the very first good opportunity it gets.

Grocer Gets 50 Cents For Can of Sardines That Cost 18 1-2 Cents

New York, June 25.—Henry Vette a Brooklyn grocer, was held in $2,500 bail today when arraigned before United States Commissioner McCabe on a charge of having sold an 18½-cent can of sardines for 50 cents. His examination was set for July 7.

ALMOST CERTAIN THAT PALMER MEN WILL BE SEATED

Predicted They Will Be Placed on the Temporary Roll and Later on Permanent Roll Without Dissenting Vote.

HARDWICK TO TAKE FIGHT TO CONVENTION

Former Senator Says If His Delegates Lose, Palmer Leaders in Georgia Will Have Trouble in Carrying State for the Democratic Candidate in the Fall.

Auditorium, San Francisco, June 25.—The democratic national committee today decided to postpone consideration of the Georgia and Missouri contests until tomorrow morning, after clearing away all the preliminaries for the opening of the national convention next Monday. It was the plan of some of the leaders to have the contests heard by subcommittees. Sentiment, however, was strong for consideration by the full committee and a roll call was demanded on the question. The vote resulted 26 to 20 to have the full committee hear the case.

The vote by states was as follows:

Nays—Delaware, Florida, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Washington, Wyoming—20.

The Georgia contest involves 28 votes, while in the Missouri case the question is whether Senator James A. Reed, opponent of the national administration and the league of nations, shall be seated in the face of his rejection by the Missouri state convention. Reed was re-elected by the fifth Missouri district after his rejection by the state convention, but it is claimed action was illegal.

Making Up Temporary Roll.

The committee met late today to make up the temporary roll of delegates to consider contests and to dispose of other business preliminary to the opening of the convention next Monday. Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the committee, presided.

rPobably the largest number of women that ever attended a meeting of the committee was present. Among the early arrivals was Senator James A. Reed, who claimed a seat in the convention as a delegate from the fifth Missouri district. Representatives of the two groups of delegates contesting for Georgia's 28 votes were also on hand.

The committee adopted without discussion a resolution to be submitted to the national convention providing that hereafter each state and territory be represented in the national committee by one man and one woman to be selected according to state laws or party rules, where no state law covers the election of national committeemen. The resolutions also provided that the woman committee member to serve the next four years be selected by the state delegation to the present convention if the resolution is adopted.

GEORGIA CONTEST BEFORE COMMITTEE

In Memory of the Dead.

Minutes on the death of Roger Sullivan, Illinois; John W. McGraw, West Virginia, and William J. Stone, Missouri, were adopted by a rising vote.

The committee approved the executive committee report of temporary officers of the convention, which recommended that Homer S. Cummings be the temporary chairman of the convention.

A pleasant incident at the meeting was the presentation of a gold badge to John I. Martin, of Missouri, temporary sergeant-at-arms of the national committee.

When the question of approving the temporary roll came up, it was announced that several states were short their full delegation, and the question arose how the vacancies shall be filled. After a general discussion, a motion was made by Thomas B. Love, Texas, authorizing state delegations to fill vacancies. The motion was tabled after several committeemen said their delegations would fill vacancies to suit themselves. New Hampshire and Delaware were among the states that had delegates absent.

J. Bruce Kremer, Montana, vice chairman of the committee, moved that contests be heard by subcommittees of five appointed by the chair. E. H. Moore, of Ohio, moved a substitute that the contests be heard by the full committee in executive session, and it was adopted by a vote of 26 yeas and 20 nays.

Delegates From Canal Zone.

The committee, after a brief discussion, placed on the temporary roll the names of two delegates and two alternates from the Panama canal zone. This will give the canal zone representation in a democratic national convention for the first time if the delegates are seated by the credentials committee.

In the case of John L. Schuyleman, who protested against the seating of R. R. Turner as a delegate at large from Oregon, the committee decided to seat Turner. Turner was selected a delegate at large by the Oregon state committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of R. T. Baldwin. Schuyleman appeared before the committee and argued that he should fill the vacancy on the ground that he received the fifth highest vote for the place of delegate at large.

Schuyleman announced he would carry his case to the credentials committee.

There was a buzz through the committee room when Francis M. Wilson, United States district attorney for the western district of Missouri, presented the certified action of the "democracy of the fifth Missouri district," in electing James A. Reed a delegate to the convention. He asked an opportunity to present the facts to the committee, and was informed that he would be heard at the proper time.

Georgia Contest Called.

The committee then took the Georgia contest. Clark Howell, leading the A. Mitchell Palmer group of delegates, said he would take only ten minutes to present his side of the case.

Former Senator Hardwick wanted thirty minutes. As some of the committee had early evening engagements, it was decided to take up the Georgia case tomorrow, and the committee adjourned until 10 a. m.

Many committee members expressed the opinion when a recess was taken until tomorrow without the Georgia contest or the Missouri cases having been reached that the ruling to be made in those cases would be shaped to keep out of the convention Senator Reed, of Missouri, and former Senator Hardwick, of Georgia, two of the bitterest critics of the Wilson policies.

The opinion was expressed that the Palmer delegation from Georgia would be placed on the temporary roll and later on the permanent roll without a dissenting vote.

Hardwick Makes Predictions.

The Hoke Smith-Tom Watson delegation from Georgia, headed by former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, who are contesting for seats in the convention seems full of fight. Senator Hardwick said if the national committee should reject the Smith-Watson delegates and seat the Palmer groups, which is friendly to Clark Howell, he proposed to carry the fight to the credentials committee and from there to the floor of the convention. He expressed himself as optimistic of the final result.

Some of the members of the Smith-Watson group expressed the opinion that if the Palmer delegates were seated it would bring about a delicate situation in Georgia this fall. Senator Hardwick said if his delegates lost, the present Palmer leaders in Georgia would have difficulty in carrying the state for a democratic candidate against the republican nominee.

Wilson Forces Control.

So far as surface indications were concerned, at least, the friends of President Wilson and his administration appeared in complete control of the political machinery of the democratic party today, as the actual preliminaries of the national convention began.

Their domination was not without its complement of grumbling and complaints among scattering insurgent elements, but there was every evidence that on a showdown the anti-administration forces were not only far in the minority, but were lacking in organization and leadership.

Another development pointing in the same direction was the apparent collapse of a fight against Senator Glass, of Virginia, in his candidacy for chairman of the resolutions committee. A post for which he is commonly reported to have been selected by the president himself.

In addition there was accumulating evidence that William J. Bryan would find the cards against him in his attempt to put into the platform a league of nations plank in disagreement with the president's views, and a prohibition enforcement plank framed without the acquiescence of the administration.

As to Prohibition.

With regard to prohibition, however, the situation remained in a state of considerable uncertainty with the trend apparently toward exclusion from the platform entirely. Those who want a liberalization plank continued an active campaign and some members of the New York delegation declared they would carry their fight to the floor of the convention itself, but a feeling gained headway that in the end both Mr. Bryan's bone dry declaration and that of the anti-bone dry would be voted down.

Just where President Wilson stands on that subject has not been made clear, but increasing significance was attached in the day's conferences to the absence of any reference to prohibition in the Virginia democratic platform, unqualifiedly indorsed by the white house.

Neither has the administration played its hand in regard to presidential candidates and tonight the relative standing of aspirants remained apparently unchanged. Attorney General Palmer arrived today to take personal charge of his campaign and by tomorrow the gunning of candidates and their managers among the uninstructed delegates is expected to be at its height.

"Before starting a movement to recall an official an affidavit of alleged grounds must be filed with the city clerk. Within thirty days after the filing the affidavit a petition must be filed with the clerk, signed by 20 per cent of the registered voters. At the election a majority of those voting on the question are required to remove from office."

Power is granted by the suggested system to proposed ordinances upon petition of 10 per cent of the registered voters; and power is granted to the electors to approve or reject at the polls any measure passed by the council, with the provision that ordinances must be submitted upon the petition of 10 per cent of the registered voters.

The following departments are created in the draft presented: Law, public service, public welfare, public safety, finance, education and libraries. At the head of each department there is provided a director appointed by the city manager, except those of law, education and libraries. The department of law consists of a head appointed by the council, the board of education, elected by the people, elects its own head, and the department of libraries is a board appointed by council.

DUTIES OF DEPARTMENTS.

The scope and duties of the various departments under the proposed charter were outlined as follows:

Department of Law.

The director, appointed by council without a definite term, to serve during their pleasure. He appoints such assistants as may be authorized by council. He is the chief legal advisor of and attorney for the city and all the officers and departments thereof.

Department of Public Service.

The director appointed by city manager and subject to discharge for dereliction of duty. He will manage and have charge of the construction and maintenance of all public buildings, streets, sidewalks, sewers, drains, etc., of parks, playgrounds, and other public places and grounds. He will manage and control cemeteries, market houses, garbage and sewage collection and disposal plants and all public utilities and enforce the obligations to the city of all privately owned utilities. He will also have charge of cleaning, sprinkling and lighting of all streets and public places.

Department of Public Welfare.

The director appointed by the city manager and subject to discharge will have management of all charitable, correctional and reformatory institutions and agencies belonging to the city, as well as recreational facilities of the city, including recreational use of parks and playgrounds. He will supervise and control all municipal hospitals, clinics and dispensaries, and will keep a record of vital statistics and inquire into the cause of crime, poverty and disease.

Public Safety.

The director will be appointed by the city manager and subject to discharge upon dereliction of duty, and will be executive head of the police and fire forces of the city and the chief administrative authority on all matters relating to the inspection and regulation of the erection and maintenance of buildings.

Finance.

The director of this department will be appointed by the city manager and will be subject to discharge. He will have charge of the administration of the financial affairs of the city, including the keeping and supervision of all accounts; the levy, assessment and collection of taxes, etc. A modern system of budget procedure is provided in the charter.

WILL FIX TAX RATE.

The council will fix the tax rate and designate what portions are to be used for various needs. The street, sanitary and business taxes are provided for as at present; the rate is not to exceed $1.25 on each $100 of property within the city as assessed for city purposes, unless council submit a proposed higher rate to the voters and they approve it.

The tax assessor is appointed by the city manager, and the council sits as a board of equalization, with the right to ask any taxpayer to appear before them and show such books, papers and documents as they consider necessary in proper assessment.

The council may authorize the borrowing of money by the issue and sale of bonds; no ordinance providing for the issuing of bonds may be passed without public notice of at least two weeks before final action of council. The proposed charter also provides for a city marshal and a purchasing agent in this department to be appointed by the city manager.

In addition to the library board, which will consist of five members appointed by the council to supervise the Carnegie library and other libraries under control of the city, and the department of education, the chief features of which have already been mentioned, the proposed charter provides for a civil service board which will hold competitive examinations and provide a list of those eligible to hold office in the city government.

It was stressed at the meeting Friday night that there will be no necessity for change in the present employees of the city under the new charter, as long as continuous good service is given.

PROVIDES FOR WRITTEN STATEMENT.

Detailed regulations are provided wherein employees of the city may be suspended, laid off, or reduced in grade by the heads of departments or the city manager if sufficient cause be found, but that he must first be furnished with a written statement of the reasons therefor so that he may be allowed a reasonable time to answer such a statement.

The matter of pensions for city employees remains as at present, with the provision that the maximum be increased from $50 to $100 per month.

An art commission, with advisory capacity, is also created by the proposed charter to be appointed by council for three-year terms.

In regard to local improvements, the charter provides: that council is given power to provide by ordinance for all things in the nature of local improvements and for the assessment of a portion of the costs against the abutting property. Street railway companies will still be required to pay for paving 11 feet for each single track and 16 feet for double tracks.

Additional regulations as to public utilities incorporated in the proposed city manager system say that all franchise grants, renewals and extensions can be made only by ordinance, and that no such ordinance may be passed until two weeks after it has been printed in final form, until public hearings have been held for its discussion and until a report thereon has been filed by the city manager. The charter also says that no franchise ordinance may be passed as an emergency measure, and that no franchise can be for longer than a period of thirty years.

RECORDER'S COURT.

The recorder's court is left the same duties and scope under the new charter as now prevail under Atlanta's government, with the proviso that the recorder be appointed by the council, and that he must have practiced in Georgia as an attorney at law for at least five years.

Miscellaneous items of interest incorporated in the charter include prvisions that:

Members of council, officers and employees of the city are forbidden to be financially interested in contracts with the city, etc., and that violation constitutes malfeasance in office, vacates office and renders contract involved voidable.

The city manager, director of finance and any other officer so required by council must give bond.

The city is forbidden to sell or exchange Lakewood or lease it for longer than five years; also forbidden to sell, exchange or lease waterworks or parks.

After the reading of the resume of the charter by Secretary Charles E. Robertson, of the chamber of commerce, the motion that the report be adopted was passed unanimously. Next, the question of when and how the campaign for the passage of the charter would be begun and carried on was voted upon, with the result that it was decided to submit the bill at once to the legislature, and request that the question be submitted to the people in the primary of July 26, with the permission of the city democratic executive committee.

Thanks were tendered Dr. Hatton for his services, and the following chairmen of committees were named for the campaign to have the charter adopted as Atlanta's system of government: General chairman, Eugene R. Black, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; chairman of the executive committee, Robert B. Troutman; campaign committee, E. H. Goodhart; publicity, W. R. C. Smith; speakers, Edgar A. Neely.

BIG CONCLAVE OF DEMOCRATS IS 'PICKING UP'

Numerous Disturbing Elements Appear on Scene, Including Bryan, Burleson, Shouse and Others.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

San Francisco, June 25.—This democratic conclave is "picking up." Numerous disturbing elements have now appeared on the scene, including William Jenning Bryan with a dry plank, Postmaster General Burleson with some wet ideas, Jouett Shouse, who has been candidacy manager for William Gibbs McAdoo and will lead a Glass boom if the McAdoo movement finally is abandoned; Burris Jenkins, who had planned to nominate McAdoo but will be besought by McAdoo's friends to abandon the plan—and numerous others. Among the latter, honorable mention may be tendered Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, who tore into town on a special late Friday and who will be one of President Wilson's personal spokesmen at the convention, and Attorney General Palmer, leading contender—on paper—for the nomination.

Thus, it may be concluded that the period of quiet, conjecture and inaction that has marked the pre-convention doings to date, is due for a halt. Effective today, a breath of life is stirring the proceedings. In fact, a change of atmosphere was evident early Friday when it developed that Thursday night had marked a general loosing of heretofore dammed streams of non-Volstead beverages which had been kept in waiting preliminary to the arrival of the big delegations.

Big Fireworks on Hand.

But, while the supplies for the big fireworks are now on hand, generally speaking, there is yet to come a material change in the situation, speaking in the concrete. Even W. J. Burns, well-known international sleuth, who arrived on the scene today, admitted to me somewhat crestfallenly that he had not yet been able to pick up a single clue to the winning boom.

With the arrival of Shouse and Jenkins, the latter still insisting that he is to place in nomination the next president of the United States—William G. McAdoo—the McAdoo talk naturally gained momentum. Both Thursday night and again Friday night conferences were in progress, designed to put McAdoo over despite his personal wishes. The effort of McAdoo's personal friends is now directed in the main to three things.

First—Overriding the belief of Shouse that McAdoo's wishes as to the nomination should be observed and the McAdoo movement directed to the nomination of Senator Glass, who is McAdoo's choice.

Second—Preventing the plan of Jenkins to place McAdoo in regular nomination.

Third—Organizing a stampede movement for the president's son-in-law to originate with some delegation on the floor, be seconded by other delegations and finally sweep the convention and previous to this, keeping the McAdoo strength under cover rather than striking out at the beginning with a big total of votes.

The strategy of the McAdoo irrepressibles is covered in the last proposals, if they succeed in the first. Conversation with the leaders today brought forth the idea they have in mind.

"Crown Prince" Cry.

"The one weakness in the McAdoo movement from the outset," said one of these, "has been that the cry of 'crown prince' would be raised against him. This has been one of the influences that moved Mrs. McAdoo to write Mrs. John Sfielton Williams in Washington recently that 'the happiest day of my life will be when I have convinced my husband that he must not return to politics.' Shortly after that McAdoo withdrew. Mrs. McAdoo has experienced the bitter aftermath of politics in her father's regime at the white house. And her persuasion won with her husband.

"But if we can nominate McAdoo despite his attitude, certainly no one can say taht he wanted to be the 'heir and successor' in the royal family. And eventually it would seem likely that the country will realize McAdoo was not the choice of the president for the place. Elements entering into the president's attitude need not be reviewed here, but had he been for McAdoo he would have indicated it by now."

McAdoo, my informant continued, "wants Glass nominated. He will probably say so pretty soon. But if my way goes, we will be for McAdoo first—and I don't think there will be any second. In all events we will hold the McAdoo forces intact for whatever may be decided upon later." It is a safe prediction that the final decision will be to abide by McAdoo's wishes and not press his candidacy.

Palmer Arrives on Scene.

Advent of Attorney General Palmer on the scene Friday also increased the momentum of his movement. Contributing to this was the arrival of the Illinois and other delegations, a majority of whose delegates seem to favor Palmer.

In interviews with newspaper correspondents Palmer declared he was here primarily in the interests of a progressive platform rather than his own candidacy.

On the latter, however, he expressed formal confidence.

But, by and large, the situation has not materially changed. Cox still heads the big drive. It was going stronger today than at any time since the delegates began arriving. It is confidentially admitted by the leaders in all the other movements that Cox is the man they most fear among the candidates now, for, despite talk, McAdoo continues to be regarded out of the running by the leaders.

In connection with the Cox boom today there developed considerable talk of Governor Smith, of New York, as a running mate for Cox. Smith, it was contended in those quarters sponsoring the idea, would carry the ticket through New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts. With Cox counted on to carry Ohio and some of the other midwestern states against Harding, the solid south in line and third party deflections in Wisconsin, Minnesota and the two Dakotas playing into the hands of the democrats, the Cox-Smith boomers say the party could win in the fall.

Cox for First or Second Place.

There has been considerable talk of vice presidential possibilities during the last few days. It is generally conceded that if Cox does not win first place he will at least be offered second place. Outside of him, there are the following candidates:

Former Governor and Ex-United States Ambassador to Russia David Francis, to be nominated by the Missouri delegation.

Governor Stewart, of Montana, to be offered by his state delegation.

General L. D. Tyson, brigade commander of A. E. F., in France, to be offered by Tennessee.

Former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, to be nominated by the Illinois crowd.

Former Governor S. L. Ralston to be submitted by the Indiana delegation.

E. L. Doheney, California oil magnate, to be nominated by the California delegation.

CHARLES STENSTROM, well-known contractor of Peoria, Ill., who says he was in such bad health he had about decided to retire from business. Declares he now feels thirty years younger and is enjoying splendid health since taking Tanlac.

"I feel thirty years younger since I got hold of Tanlac, and if it was necessary I could handle a shovel and turn as much dirt as any of my men," said Charles Stenstrom, the well-known concrete and excavating contractor, living at 607 Fishgate Street, Peoria, Ill.

"For thirty years I have suffered all the misery that goes with stomach trouble, rheumatism, and disordered kidneys, and when I began taking Tanlac I was so bad off I was about to retire from business.

"My stomach was so badly upset that it nearly laid me up altogether and after every meal I took cramping spells that sometimes were so bad I couldn't leave the house for I was afraid I could not get back. I bloated up so with gas that I could not get a long breath. My legs pained me almost every minute of the day, and when the weather was damp my arms hurt me so much it was agony for me to bend them. My kidneys were so badly out of order that I had pains all through my back, and at night I was in such misery I could hardly sleep at all. Every morning my back was so stiff it was hard for me to get out of bed, and during the day I couldn't think of doing my work.

"Things are different now, as Tanlac has made a wonderful change in my condition. Everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. The rheumatism has almost disappeared and the pains and stiffness in my back have all gone. I sleep sound every night and I get up in the mornings feeling fine and ready for breakfast. I have given up all idea of retiring from business, as Tanlac has given me new life and strength and I am now enjoying better health than I have for many years."

sion can legally ratify the nineteenth amendment..

The opinion also says "that if the governor calls the legislature in extraordinary session at any time before the next November election, it can, if it sees proper, ratify this (nineteenth) amendment. It can do this, in my judgment, regardless of whether he mentions the ratification or rejection in the proclamation or call for the extra session."

Governor A. H. Roberts, on reaching Jackson, Tenn., where he speaks this afternoon, sent a telegram to President Wilson, stating that he intended to include ratification of the nineteenth amendment in his call for an extra session of the legislature, provided the state legal department advised him that ratification could now be made.

When the governor's telegram was sent he had not heard that Attorney General Thompson had sent him an opinion here advising that the present legislature could ratify the amendment.

The governor's telegram said:

"I heartily favor ratification of the nineteenth amendment. Will include this subject in call for extra session if legal department advises ratification can now be made. At same session legislature must consider important fiscal problems now in process of solution under plan proposed by democratic party in 1914 and followed since. State platform recently adopted adheres to this financial program which I am endeavoring to carry out. Those opposing this plan locally seek to embarrass the party in every way possible by precipitate action."

SNEDECOR FOR HEAD OF ROTARY CLUBS

Atlantic City, N. J., June 25.—Estes Snedecor, Portland, Ore., was elected president of the International Association of Rotary clubs at its closing session here today. He defeated John Dyer, Vincennes, Ind., on the third ballot, 283 votes to 250.

Edinburgh, Scotland, probably will be selected for the 1921 convention.

Before adjournment the international trophies were awarded. The Houston attendance trophy was given to the Clenfuegos club of Cuba; the ladies' attendance trophy to the Washington, D. C., club; the vocational section trophy to the men's clothing retail, and the golf trophy to Gill Tiffany, of the Amsterdam, N. Y., Rotary club.

Dr. Crawford C. McCullough, Port Arthur, Canada; Robert Timmons, Wichita, Kan., and Ray M. Havens, Kansas City, Mo., were elected vice presidents; Rufus E. Chapin, Chicago, international treasurer, and Emmet E. Galer, Asheville, N. C., international sergeant-at-arms. Spring nominations of district governors who were confirmed include: Lewis W. Perrin, Spartanburg, S. C.; Wilbur R. Smith, Atlanta; Charles W. Bailey, Clarksville, Tenn.; H. Kemp Toney, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Everett W. Hill, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Grant Park Pool Will Be Opened This Afternoon

Opening of the municipal swimming pool at Grant park, which is claimed to be the largest concrete pool in the United States, will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock. A number of attractions and ceremonies will make the inauguration very interesting. Addresses will be made by Mayor Key, Chairman Thom, as of the park board, and Councilman Bailey.

The program of events will include an aquatic meet, in which a number of the best-known local water talent has enrolled. The meet will be held under the auspices of the A. A. C., and awards will be bestowed on the winners and runners-up of the seven events of the meet. The aquatic program was arranged by Al Doonan, Manager Vorhis, of A. G. Spalding & Bros.; Bill Logan and Gilbert Frasier. The trophies are being donated by A. G. Spalding & Bros. Music will be furnished by a band from Camp Jessup.

Work was commenced on the pool about three years ago. Councilman Bailey has been one of the chief promoters of the municipal enterprise, and it is due mostly to the interest that he has inspired in the undertaking that the project was put over. The pool was constructed at an approximate cost of $70,000, and covers about an acre and a half. At its deepest part, the depth is about 11 feet.

Among the local aquatic celebrities to take part in the water contests will be S. I. Watney, S. I. A. A. diving champion; E. F. Hatcher, half-mile champion; Gilbert Frasier, Norris Broyles, T. S. Lewis and others.

A recent measure has provided for night swimming, and adequate illumination will be given the pool for swimmers to enjoy a nocturnal plunge.

Following are the events of the acquatic meet:

100-yard swim (senior); free style.
50-yard swim (junior); free style.
50-yard swim for boys under 13 years of age.
500-yard swim (senior).
100-yard swim (junior).
Fancy diving.

DEMOCRATS WON'T RISK WET PLANK, THINKS W. H. TAFT

Chicago, June 25.—"The democrats will hardly take the risk of going before the country with a wet plank in their platform," William Howard Taft said on his arrival here today.

"I do not look for the democratic party to follow the lead of Governor Edwards or any other wet candidate on this question."

On the league of nations Taft said he would like to have seen a "more specific plank in the republican platform than the one adopted.

"There is no question in my mind that we must have a league of nations with reservations," he said. "That is where both parties must head in order to insure the peace of the world."

The former president said he did not know whether he would take the stump for Senator Harding.

"All I can say now is that I am willing to help," he concluded.

3,000 COAL MINERS ON STRIKE IN ALABAMA

Birmingham, Ala., June 25.—Approximately three thousand miners in the Alabama field are on strike, fifteen mines are idle and a shortage of cars is contributing to a threatened fuel famine in this state, according to Frank V. Evans, statistician of the Alabama Coal Operators' association.

Mr. Evans' statement was issued today. A representative of the interstate commerce commission is here seeking a remedy for the situation.

G. O. P. PUTS LIMIT OF $1,000 ON GIFTS

Washington, June 25.—Conferences with republican leaders were continued today by Senator Harding, the candidate of the republican party for president, with William Boyce Thompson, chairman of the ways and means committee of the republican national committee, and Theodore Roosevelt, son of the former president, as conferees.

Each of the conferences lasted about an hour and were in accord with the plan of the nominee to summon prominent republicans for the purpose of ascertaining their views relative to the campaign.

The meeting between the nominee and Mr. Thompson related largely to campaign finances and Mr. Thompson announced after the conference that on Mr. Harding's recommendations the policy inaugurated several years ago of limiting campaign contributions to $1,000 would be followed this year.

"Through my department," said Mr. Thompson, "there has been no contribution to the republican national organization in excess of $1,000, and we mean to go on with that limitation. Senator Harding wants the financial side of the campaign cast in harmony with the policy of his preconvention campaign. The senator spent the least of any of the candidates in the preconvention period and takes especial pride in having it known that the major portion of his limited fund came through small contributions from neighbors and friends in his home town."

Mr. Roosevelt came at the senator's invitation and after the conference issued a statement indorsing Senator Harding and declaring him to be a standard-bearer who would "represent and unite the entire party." He said his talk with Senator Harding had been "most satisfactory."

Interest was expressed in political circles here in the announcements from Boston today of the conference next Wednesday between Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge, of Massachusetts, the republican vice presidential nominee. The two are not strangers, having met several months ago when Mr. Harding was campaigning in Massachusetts.

Arrangements for the meeting of the two nominees were made by National Chairman Hays at Senator Harding's suggestion that an exchange of views on the campaign would be profitable. The speeches to be made by each of the candidates in accepting their respective nominations probably will be discussed also.

While plans for the conference have not been completed, it is understood that it will be held at the senator's office at the capitol.

In addition to his conference today, Mr. Harding played a round of golf with Senators Hitchcock, of Nebraska, who is a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination; Hale, of Maine, and Elkins, of West Virginia.

Tomorrow promises to be a quiet day for the senator. No important engagements had been arranged tonight.

Being duly sworn before a United States Judge in a United States Court, Mr. Harris stated that he had suffered from Eczema on his feet for 20 years. He gave Sul-Ferro-Sol a trial and he swore further: "It cured it absolutely and it has never bothered me since."

BRYAN EXPECTS BONE-DRY PLANK IN THE PLATFORM

San Francisco, June 25.—"I expect to see a dry plank in the democratic platform," said William J. Bryan on his arrival here tonight. "I have no thought that a wet plank can be put into it."

He refused to comment on the report that there was widespread sentiment in favor of ignoring prohibition entirely. He added that he cared to make no statement on the league of nations covenant, nor as to the candidacy of any individual.

"Platform first," he added.

"If the wet forces in this convention had a single vote to spare," he said, "they would force in a wet plank even though it would dissolve the democratic party."

DEAD OF THE OTRANTRO TO BE BROUGHT HOME

Paris, June 25.—Exhumation of the bodies of 489 American soldiers which were washed upon the rocky shores of the Island of Islay, off the Scottish coast, after the sinking of the transports Tuscania and Otrantro in 1918 will be started June 1, it was announced here today.

The Scottish clan which inhabits the lonely spot has taken the most tender care of the graves, and the chief has given a pledge that the clan would look after the graves as if they were its own until the end of time. The chief pleaded that the bodies be left on the island, but the relatives in many cases wished the return of the bodies, and it was decided by the graves registration service to remove them all.

The coast of Islay is so steep and rocky that the coffins will have to be carried down steep trails cut in the rocks or lowered by ropes and tackles to a waiting barge, which will convey them to a transport standing off shore.

GLENN TAKES STAND FOR POWER COMPANY

President of Atlantic Steel Company Testifies Before Rail Board.

Among the five witnesses who testified at the hearing before the state railroad commission Friday afternoon on the application of the Georgia Railway and Power company for leave to increase its gas and electric power rates as well as its car fare, only one was favorable to the application. That was Thomas K. Glenn, president of the Atlantic Steel company, who at the end of the session requested leave to make a statement on behalf of the power company, with which he said he had been connected in the past for some seventeen years.

Mr. Glenn said that the steel company was the largest consumer of electric current on the books of the power company, and that its motive in favoring the proposed increase of rates was a purely selfish one by reason of its interest in the continued ability of the power company to function and furnish power to all of its customers, which, he stated, it could not do under the old schedules.

He further stated that if the power company should become unable to supply the continued demand for power, the largest users, being the least profitable to the company, would be the first ones to be cut off, in which case the steel company of which he was the president would necessarily suffer.

Glenn's Statement.

"The present rate charged for power is less than we can afford to make it," he said, "for the reason that we are interested in a continuation of the development of the power company's resources, which will be impossible without increased returns.

"The shortage of coal has threatened to become acute. It is now from $1.50 to $2 higher per ton than it would be if coal cars were available, and unless the company can utilize its undeveloped water power, which is equal to that already developed, I fear it will be unable to continue efficiently."

Mr. Glenn contended that the street railways had been highly efficient up to within a few years of the present; that their ability to operate efficiently was due to their ability to borrow money, which in turn depended on their ability to earn more than their fixed charges and thereby acquire needed improvements from time to time.

"The power company's chances will be slim if it is only able to earn the amount of its fixed he added.

Other witnesses before the commission were Philip R. Lamar, manager of the Southern Cotton Oil company; D. W. Anderson, manager of the Pacolet Manufacturing company, and F. W. Puett, construction superintendent for Swift & Co., all of whom gave comparisons between the power company's present rates and the amounts charged under such rates and the proposed rates as they would effect future charges.

Mr. Puett called attention to his figures, which showed that the proposed increases were greater in the cases of large consumers than toward the small users of power.

Illustrates Differences.

A. St. C. Dunstan, an electrical engineer now occupying a chair at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, illustrated the difference between the company's present system of charging by the kilowatt hour, which, he said, was a term used to indicate a definite quantity of work done, and the proposed system of charging for KVA, which, he stated, bore no relation to the work accomplished, was not anywhere accepted as a basis of demand charge, and could not be accurately measured by any known instrument in use. He also deprecated the use of the synchronized motor, which, he said, was complicated and costly as compared with the inductive motor, but which will become necessary under the company's new system of furnishing electrical power, although he admitted under cross-examination by Luther Z. Rosser, for the power company, that he had no practical knowledge of the operation of the synchronized motor.

At the morning session Preston S. Arkwright, president of the petitioning company, concluded his testimony in response to the thirty-six interrogatories put by George S. Jones, attorney for the Bibb Manufacturing company, of Macon, and delivered a vigorous reply to the testimony of Mayor Key and Joel Hurt, president of the old railway company, in which he stated that the antagonism of the mayor dated back to his (Arkwright's) refusal to contribute to Mr. Key's first campaign for the mayoralty in 1904.

Mr. Arkwright denied that his company ever offered a position to Mr. Key or sought his influence politically as the mayor had testified but said that the latter had requested a contribution of $250 toward his campaign expenses which the power company president refused to grant, and added that the mayor's opposition developed thereafter.

Hits Hurt Testimony.

He also criticised Mr. Hurt's testimony as utterly unreliable, denying his statement that he paid his motormen 25 cents an hour, but asserted on the contrary that the rate was then 12 cents, with a twelve and a half hour day.

Mr. Arkwright said the consolidation of the old companies was approved by the mayor and council of Atlanta with full knowledge on their part of the capitalization of those corporations, and that the city was now in no position to attack their reorganization.

He insisted that the service is good, as compared with service in the average city, that it is physically and economically impossible to furnish seats for all passengers during the rush hours, and that it is the company's desire to improve its service but that it cannot do so without the necessary money. He also said the quality of gas furnished at present is as good as possible at the rates charged, but concluded that it will "become unbearable" if the company doesn't raise money enough to make some essential improvements.

San Francisco, Cal., June 25.—Following are the convention tactics to be used by the three leading candidates for the democratic nominataion:

Attorney General Palmer, confident in having a plurality of the delegates on the first ballot, will make his big drive on the first three ballots and his managers will release delegates if the two-thirds majority they expect by that time has not been attained.

Governor Cox, of Ohio, will begin his drive slowly on the first two ballots with his big effort starting on the third and with indications today that he may reach the desired two-thirds majority shortly afterward.

Friends of W. G. McAdoo will wait for the expected collapse of the Palmer boom, will then trail through the Cox boom until it shows signs of weakening, if it does, and then start the spontaneous drive for McAdoo. They admit the weight of the Cox drive and fear it may succeed, preventing development of their program. They will not fight for McAdoo's nomination unless it can be a winning fight, they say.

If the Cox boom wanes after the Palmer effort collapses, and McAdoo's friends should prove unable to put over a stampede for McAdoo, the latter will turn to support of Carter Glass. This stage will give the so-called "second-string" candidates their chance and leading among these are Glass and John W. Davis.

If McAdoo's wishes prevail on his firends here, however, there may be no concerted movement at any time. In this event, the McAdoo "insiders" will attempt to turn the full strength of his movement to Glass, with no marked signs of success at this writing.

PROPOSE UNIFORM ANTI-THEFT LAW FOR AUTOMOBILES

Washington, June 25.—A proposed uniform anti-theft law aimed to protect the 7,500,000 automobile owners in this country, was announced today by the American Automobile association. It was prepared by a conference committee of representatives of the leading organizations of the motor car industry.

Upon transfer of ownership of a car its registration shall expire and state automobile officials must be notified for new registration cards to be issued.

When cars are stolen the state automobile officials must be notified, and from the state office notification, with description of stolen cars, shall be sent to all other state automobile offices for record.

Maximum imprisonment for automobile theft is fixed at ten years with maximum fine of $5,000.

THE PEOPLE'S TIME.

President Sam L. Olive, of the state senate, is to be commended for the stand he has taken against the wasting of the people's time by the general assembly.

Last Thursday Senator J. J. Flynt moved that the senate adjourn over Friday and Saturday, after having been in session only two days.

President Olive immediately took the floor and vigorously opposed the motion, and it was very properly killed.

He argued that the press of business before the legislature is great, and demands immediate consideration in order to prevent the usual congestion of pending legislation during the closing days of the session—a condition that always in the past has resulted in the defeat of many beneficial bills and the enactment of others in haphazard, half-baked, confused fashion.

Some legislators like that sort of thing. It enables them, if they are shrewd and skillful manipulators, to maneuver to enactment measures that are of questionable value to the state—measures that could not withstand the light of mature and deliberate consideration.

Others do not take their offices seriously enough, They regard the legislative session as a sort of midsummer vacation period. They forget their obligations to the state, and that the time they waste by recessing is the people's time, and valuable.

Therefore, the practice in the past has been, as a general thing, for the lawmakers to recreate profusely during the early days of the session, then on the last day turn the hands of the clock back and grind out laws like a mill grinds grist.

If President Olive, of the senate, and Speaker Holder, of the house, will change this practice, and hold their respective branches of the legislature down to business—and nothing but business—until there is no further business pressing for attention, they will have established a valuable precedent and performed a lasting service to the state of Georgia.

STAY WITH THE FARMS.

"What Shall We Eat?" is the question asked in an editorial in The Commerce (Ga.) News on the decrease in population as to the rural districts, due to the fact that the people who make the food are leaving the farms and flocking to the towns and cities.

As pointed out time and again, many towns and cities that have made an extra fine showing in the census returns have grown in population at the expense of the farms that feed them.

And how can the farms furnish food for the million with productive land lying idle, furrows unplowed and farms grass-grown, as is the case, in many instances—not in one state alone, but in many?

The question of "What Shall We Eat?" comes from the farms to the cities, and strikes home!

"Can 15 per cent of the population of this country," asks the Commerce paper, "produce a sufficient amount of food to meet the demands of the entire population?"

That slim per cent is now said to be all that the food-producing districts can boast; and it is indeed plain to all that "if 15 per cent of the people cannot produce food enough to supply all the people there will be a big food shortage," and suffering will inevitably result.

Of the present and future advantages of sticking to the farms, the Commerce paper says:

"Already food prices are high, and instead of getting cheaper it must be evident that they are to go higher. The farmer will receive a fine price for his surplus food crop this year. This is all to the good for the few who stay on the farms. They are already receiving good prices and the indications are that they will receive better prces in the future. This should be an incentive to remain on the farm. It is an inducement to many to leave the towns and cities and go to the farm, but there are too many people who had rather loaf than work."

And this picture of farm life, where there are willing workers, is not overdrawn:

"Farm life, whether the owner has his own home, his wood and water, his rural school, his home church and daily mails delivered at his door is the most independent life known. Here he is his own boss; can come and go at will, can do as he pleases, produce his own food and live on the fat of the land."

Far different conditions from those in congested centers to which so many ill-advised people are flocking!

Living in the country now is not what it was some years ago, for many a rural district has practically all the conveniences of the progressive towns. The city dweller, when he visits his country friends, feels pretty much at home. It is sometimes almost a disappointment to him that he "can't get lost in the woods!"

Considering the many inducements to remain on the farm—in health, happiness and the plenty of a practical Promised Land, the wonder is that so many lose sight of their best interests and, lured by the dream of quick wealth in the cities, leave the Promised Land behind them.

PROFITS AND UNREST.

Publication of statistics compiled by the federal trade commission indicating a steady rise in coal mine operators' profits under existing conditions is not calculated to allay the spirit of unrest throughout the land.

The commission's findings are based upon reports submitted by 1,081 operators, covering their operations during last March, showing an increase in the profit per ton of coal averaging 13 cents, or 45 per cent.

In March, says the commission, the margin of profit was 42 cents as against 29 cents in February.

During that period the average cost per ton was reduced four per cent, and the output per working day was increased five per cent. This indicates a disposition on the miners' part to live up to their agreement with the public, entered into following the recent strike in the coal fields.

But the operators likewise owe an obligation to the government and the American public as a result of that agreement.

That is to deal fairly with the miners and with the consumers of coal.

At the time of settlement of the strike the question of wages and of fair profits was thoroughly threshed out before a tribunal representing all three parties at interest in the controversy. The operators, the miners and the public.

Wage schedules and the question of fair and reasonable profits were determined and agreed to.

The miners seem to be living up to their part of the covenant, working harder and producing more coal.

But the coal is costing the consumers more than ever before and the price to the consumer is constantly mounting higher and higher.

So long as the people believed that to be due in part to transportation conditions and in part to increases of production costs they accepted the situation in a spirit of acquiescence and of determination to make the best of it.

But that spirit can not reasonably be expected to continue in the face of official statistics, based upon the operators' own figures, showing that the coal producers' net profits are mounting as the price of coal to the consumer advances, contrary to the agreement between the operators, the miners and the public.

WHAT MAKES A TOWN?

In complimenting, Canton, Alpharetta's sister town, on a census showing of a growth of 33 per cent, the Alpharetta (Ga.) Free Press well says:

"But it is not alone in the increase of her population that Canton proves herself a hustling little city. Her factories and mercantile establishments, her schools and churches, her business and professional men, her sterling citizens, her snap and dash and determined spirit—these make her what she is and keep her well to the front in the galaxy of small Georgia cities."

These things are all that any town needs to bring and keep it to the front. Population figures speak well for a town, but best of all is a permanent, pushing, sterling citizenry of determined spirit. Population, to a certain extent, comes and goes, but the spirit of the sterling citizen remains. It is that which builds and gives stability to a town's every interest and enterprise.

And wherever it is in evidence, towns and cities keep in the front rank.

"William," said old Bill Slivers to young Bill as he handed over a $5 federal note, but still held to one corner of it as he delivered his homily: "William, I don't want to stint you on spendin' money; when you are out with the boys—and girls—I want you to take keer of your sheer of the expenses; but, William, every once in a while I want you to sort o' remember that it takes $100 seven months and fifteen days, workin' day and night and Sundays at 8 per cent to earn jist $5."

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MORON MALE—3
THE FAVORITE MAKE-UP.

The youth decked out in the habiliment of the "classy" clothing ad., toothpick shoes, cigarette and all the other hallmarks of aristocracy—as depicted in movie thrillers—is not necessarily a moron. His mental equipment may be normal, even though he make a noise like a moron. The vapid exterior must not be taken as pathogonomonic (as a doctor would say) of a defective mind, any more than the evanescent prettiness of the doll-faced, female moron should be deemed unmistakable evidence of high-grade imbecility, for there are certainly some dolls to be found among normal women. (I purposely inserted a couple of highbrow words in this paragraph just because I have a brand-new Webster rubbing my left elbow. However, the words are as unimportant as most such words—just skip them if they bother you, and you've missed nothing). (P. S. On sober second thought, I looked up pathognomonic in Noah, and blessed if he hasn't blundered on the pronunciation—he sounds the "g" and accents the second syllable, whereas the correct pronunciation is path-o-nomonik, accent on the path, and the mon, and I refuse to budge from this view one jot or tittel.) (Note: Noah Webster or his staff have pulled many a bone like that.)

We have in today's mail a letter from Jack:

"Kindly tell as to which is the best soap for shaving and which tonic to best use after shaving. Also which powder for the face is advantageous or disadvantageous."

I have taken comparatively few shaves in Pullman dressing rooms, and hence cannot pretend to be an authority, but I find any old soap which is good enough for toilet purposes satisfactory to shave with. After shaving, a good tonic consists of hot water followed by cold water, or cold water alone. As for powder, one's taste may run the gamut from lily of the valley to Sau de Timothy. Some of the prettiest men in the chorus prefer Fragrance of the Flourbarrel. Suit yourself about that, Jack, only be sure to apply the rouge sparingly. Pronounced complexions excite the curiosity of the rabble.

Nine out of every ten criminal cases involving moral turpitude present in the leading roles moron males and moron females. It has always been our custom and practice to punish or stigmatize the female, who is certainly not the aggressive party in the escapade; and to find some way out of the scrape, if possible, for the male, who, by rights, should shoulder the whole responsibility. This is no doubt due to our moral turpitude as a nation or race and to the undesirable representatives to whom we too often delegate the privilege of making our laws.

Like the dainty, physically attractice, exceedingly well groomed doll type of young woman who is as likely as not to prove a millstone about the neck of the hasty young man who marries her, when the bloom fades and her mental unfitness for conducting a home becomes apparent, so is the moron male commonly a "swell dancer," a veritable fashion-plate and a leader in everything except the worth while achievements.

Dr. Long Lived in Jefferson At Time of His Discovery Of Ether as Anaesthetic

Editor Constitution: In your issue of this date, under the caption "A Merited Tribute," the second paragraph reads as follows: "It was while practicing medicine at Athens, that Dr. Long, a native Georgians, born in 1834, made the discovery of and first used sulphuric ether as an agent for the alleviation and banishment of physical pain."

You have evidently been misinformed as to the above, for it is a matter of undisputable record that Dr. Long was living and practicing medicine at Jefferson, Jackson county, Georgia, when he made his wonderful discovery, and there stands today on the public square of that little city a monument commemorating this fact. It is a matter of record also that his first operation was performed on James M. Venable, of Jefferson, under an old mulberry tree, and a gavel made from said tree has been used to preserve order in several prominent gatherings in recent years.

REPORT NO ACTUAL AMMONIA SHORTAGE

Irregularities in the shipment of ammonia to small towns about the state have produced the idea that the supply of ice will be soon cut off, but it is said that these irregularities are caused by railroad strikes and freight congestion rather than the shortage of the ingredient.

The supply of ice now on hand in Atlanta is judged by W. H. Carroll, purchasing agent of the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation, to be the greatest in a number of years. While the quantity of ammonia will run the ice factories not longer than one week, no trouble is anticipated in obtaining other shipments, as they are needed.

The town which appears to be the hardest hit by a curtailed supply of ammonia is Tifton. This town reports that the amount on hand is negligible and that if shipments do not arrive within the next few days the community will be at the mercy of the heat.

PROGRESS IS SHOWN IN CHARITIES REPORT

At a monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Charities of Atlanta at the Piedmont hotel Friday morning, a statistical report for the month of May was read by the general secretary, R. C. Dexter, and other business matters were discussed.

The secretary's report of May showed a decrease in the amount of illness in the families cared for against the June report, and suggestions for the betterment of conditions surrounding the city's poor was also taken up.

H. P. Hermance and Kendall Weisiger were appointed to consider action, if any, regarding a better school attendance at the next term. R. A. McGill presided and W. O. Fort was appointed a member of the board in the place of Edwin Johnson.

BILL WOULD CHECK THEFT OF AUTOS; SENATE ADJOURNS

A step toward remedying the trade in stolen automobiles in the state and putting an end to automobile theft was taken in the senate Friday morning when Senator Ivan Allen, of the Thirty-fifth, introduced a bill requiring uniform bills of sale for second-hand cars which shall be subject to inspection of the sheriffs. The measure is a companion bill to one introduced in the house by the Fulton delegation and was introduced at the instigation of the sheriff's office of Fulton county. It was indorsed by the recent sheriffs' convention of the state in session in Atlanta.

Senator Allen stated that Sheriff Lowry believes the measure will be of great assistance to him in tracing stolen cars and will check the alarming number of automobile thefts reported recently. The bill provides for a system of records and for inspection by sheriffs upon application for licenses or transfer of licenses for the verification of bills of sale and inspection of motor vehicles by sheriffs.

Bill patterned after the uniform warehouse receipt act and making warehouse receipts negotiable instruments, came up for passage Friday, but at the request of its author, Senator Smith, of the Seventh, action on it was postponed until Monday.

Only one other bill came up for passage, it being the measure introduced last year by Senator Dorris, of the Forty-eight, regulating the issuance of marriage licenses and making the laws pertaining to their issuance most stringent. Action on this was postponed until Wednesday at the request of the author on account of the absence of a number of the senators.

Adjournment was taken at 10:35 o'clock until 11 o'clock Monday morning.

NEW TRIAL IS GRANTED TO CHARLES LIPSCHITZ

Charles Lipschitz, convicted of a misdemeanor in connection with the theft of trunks and hand baggage containing valuable diamonds and jewelry of various descriptions at the January term of the Fulton county superior court, has been granted a new trial by Judge J. R. Terrell, of the Coweta circuit, who presided at the time of Lipschitz's conviction. Lipschitz's arrest and conviction attracted nation-wide interest, the robberies occurring in Savannah. He was arrested in Portland, Ore., and carried to Savannah for trial. He was later brought here, where his conviction took place. His appeal for a new trial followed.

The order of Judge Terrell, vacating the verdict of guilty and granting a new hearing and which was received today, is as follows:

". . . Upon consideration of the motion for a new trial in the above stated case, it is adjudged by the court that, while there might be sufficient evidence to convict the defendant in Chatham county possibly of larceny from the house, or simple larceny, yet the evidence does not authorize a conviction in Fulton county of the offense charged, and a verdict of guilty in Fulton county should, therefore, be set aside.

"It is, therefore, considered, ordered and adjudged that said motion be, and it is hereby sustained, and the verdict rendered in said case is hereby set aside and vacated, and a new trial granted for want of sufficient evidence to convict the defendant in Fulton county of the offense charged in the indictment in this case.

"This June 24, 1920.

"J. R. TERRELL,
"Judge Superior Court, Coweta Circuit, Presiding."

H. G. Hastings, president of the H. G. Hastings Seed company, of Atlanta, was Thursday elected president of the American Seed Trade associtaion, now holding its annual convention in Milwaukee, according to news received by The Constitution yesterday.

The American Seed Trade association comprises a membership of 250 firms and individuals engaged in the business of producing and selling seeds. It is the official organization of the industry and the membership is made up of the leading producers, wholesalers and retailers in this line.

The election of Mr. Hastings as president of the associtaion was unanimous, and it was the sentiment of the members of that he was especially fitted for the position, not only on account of his familiarity with the seed trade of the country, but also as a recognition of valuable work which he has done in the past as chairman of some of the most important committees of the association.

Measure to Punish Purveyors of False Reports to Papers

Representative John Y. Smith, of Fulton, has announced that he will introduce at an early date next week a bill to make it a misdemeanor to furnish false information to the newspapers. Sentiment for the bill has been stimulated by several false reports printed recently, one of which led to tragical consequences, when a young Dublin girl committed suicide following a fake announcement of her coming marriage published in an Atlanta paper. The announcement is said to have been sent in by some practical joker and was innocently accepted by the paper in question as an item of news.

Such a law, it is believed, would protect both the papers and the public against irresponsible persons who undertake to disseminate fake news.

Claims Hubby Struck Her With Suitcase; Tyson Counter-Charges

Hearings before Judge Pendleton in the alimony suit brought by Mrs. Cora Bell Tyson against H. G. Tyson, a line dispatcher for the Georgia Railway and Power company, were yesterday continued until Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. This suit was filed by Mrs. Tyson, who claims that Tyson mistreated her from time to time, and that on one occasion he asked her on the street whether he should kill her that night or wait until the next morning. The petitioner further states that he struck her over the head with a suitcase, and that on various occasions he cursed her and abused her.

In his cross bill Tyson alleges that Mrs. Tyson has been too familiar with other men, naming Roy George, a division superintendent for the Georgia Railway and Power company, as one of those in question. Witnesses brought before the court on Friday testified that they had seen Mrs. Tyson and George together on several occasions. George, when placed on the stand, stated that he had never been to the Tyson home except on invitation of Tyson himself, and that he had never been with Mrs. Tyson except when accompanied by Mr. Tyson.

Presents which Tyson alleges were given to Mrs. Tyson by George were brought into court. One of these was a set of feminine toilet articles, which George states he gave to both Mr. and Mrs. Tyson as a joint Christmas present. Counsel for Mr. Tyson asked the witness what part of the present Mr. Tyson was expected to use. George denied ever giving any present to Mrs. Tyson alone, with the exception of some oranges when she was sick.

The Tysons were married in 1908 and separated in 1916, and remained separted until May 8, 1920, when Mrs. Tyson states she let her husband come back on the promise of good behavior. He treated her even worse after this reunion, she claimed. Attorney Lawton Nalley and J. R. Hutcheson are counsel for Mrs. Tyson, and Attorneys Wynne and W. A. Sims are counsel for Mr. Tyson.

Sheriffs of State Adjourn Session After Drafting Bill

Drafting of a bill vesting in county sheriffs the authority to issue automobile tags, to be presented in the present session of the state legislature, was the most important event that was affected in the two-day convention of the Georgia Sheriffs' association, which concluded its business yesterday at the Kimball house.

The bill, which makes it unnecessary for owners of machines to apply to the secretary of state for the issuance of tags, was drafted when three members of the senate met with the convention committee. The new legislation will be taken up with the general assembly by a special legislative committee composed of Deputy Sheriff Gordon Hardy, of Fulton, chairman; Sheriff J. A. McCurdy, of DeKalb county, and Sheriff G. C. Patrick, of Spalding county.

Another bill sponsored by the sheriffs was the provision of a bill of sale to be recorded in the office of the sheriffs and a personal inspection of the sheriffs of all second-hand cars to be sold. The third bill was for free passes for sheriffs on the railroads.

The convention next year will again be held in Atlanta and plans were started for another successful meeting. A barbecue will be given with the next convention.

LIBERTY LEAGUE CRIES FOR WINES AND BEER

New Orleans, June 25.—Vigorous protest against the Volstead prohibition enforcement law was voiced here in a telegram sent by Arsene Perrilliat, president of the Louisiana Liberty league, to William Jennings Bryan at San Francisco.

Copies of the telegram were also sent to the chairman and members of the platform committee of the democratic national convention, the permanent chairman of the convention, Governor Cox, of Ohio, and Governor Edwards, of New Jersey.

The Louisiana Liberty league is headed by the leading business men of New Orelans and has a membership of nearly 17,000 members throughout the state.

The text of the telegram as sent to Mr. Bryan is as follows:

"Speaking for 15,422 Louisianians and many thousands of citizens of other states who have joined us in a movement of protest against those phases of the Volstead prohibition enforcement law, which universally deprives every American citizen of personal liberty and the right of self-determination, I take issue with you on your stand on this matter.

"You and the alcohol of thought you speak for violate the spirit of our country and the intent of our constitution every time you attempt to enforce in the form of sumptuary laws your extreme impracticable and unwholesome views on the people of this country.

"We are glad the saloons have been closed, but in denying us the beverages with our meals and our homes to which during many generations, our families have been accustomed, your school of class control has done us a very great detriment.

"We, as voters, will not be in sympathy with any democratic platform which ignores our demands for the modification of the Volstead law. It is an undeniable fact that millions of once law abiding citizens nave become deliberate law vioaltors and are now encouraging smugglers and moonshiners in the sale and distribution of harmful liquor.

"Modification restoring personal liberty in the importation, manufacture, purchase and use of wine and beer would soon put an end to this nation-wide practice of law violations.

"Any law which, through its unpopularity, becomes universally violated, breeds in the national morals lack of regard for the law, which is dangerous to the body politic."

General Arsene Perrilliat also telegraphed to President Wilson urging the executive to recommend to the San Francisco convention modification of the law.

BAPTISTS INJURED BY THE COLLAPSE OF A PLATFORM

Buffalo, N. Y., June 25.—A temporary platform at the Broadway auditorium, on which about 100 delegates to the northern Baptist convention here having their pictures taken, collapsed today. Three persons were severely hurt and several others were cut and bruised. The injured included Rev. J. L. Peacock, 54, president of Shaw university, Raleigh, N. C., who sustained a probable fracture of the left leg in addition to cuts and bruises.

The convention today by a unanimous vote condemned "propaganda, religious or political, which seeks to induce the government of the United States to meddle with the internal affairs of Great Britain."

The preamble of the resolution declared "that we believe that it is in the interests of Protestantism and humanity that friendly relations should be maintained between the United States and Great Britain, the two great English-speaking peoples of the world."

The convention voted to hold its session of 1921 at Winona Lake, Indiana.

SUES HER HUSBAND FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

A damage suit for $10,000 has been filed by Mrs. Ida Falcovitz against her husband, Harry Benson Falcovitz, now Falcon, by Mrs. Falcovitz's attorney, Morris Macks. The suit also names the husband's mother, Mrs. Stella Falcon, as a defendant. Mrs. Falcovitz alleges in her suit that her mother-in-law bragged that the attempt on her part to separate the couple had been successful. Mrs. Falcon secured permission some time ago from the court to change the name of herself and four sons from Falcovitz to Falcon.

Mrs. Falcovitz, whose home is in Russia, states in her petition that her husband took advantage of her ignorance of the English language to defraud her. On September 4, 1918, Mrs. Falcovitz brought suit for divorce against her husband, but the sheriff was unable to locate him until June 6, 1920, when he was placed under bond of $200. In her original suit filed in 1918 Mrs. Falcovitz alleges that her husband induced her to make false statements in his questionnaire that he might escape the draft.

The trial of Willard Connell, wealthy Pike county farmer under indictment for peonage, which had been set for July 6, has been postponed until September by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, following an agreement between James J. Flynt, Connell's counsel, and the district attorney.

The postponement was asked by Attorney Flynt, who is a state senator, on the grounds that he could not properly represent his client at the time originally set because of his legislative duties. Connell was indicted on charges of falsely causing the arrest of Cornelius Alexander, a negro, to keep him in a state of practical slavery.

ARGUMENT BEGINS IN HIGHWAY CASE

Decision Expected Soon Determining Constitutionality of Enactment of Highway and Motor Vehicle Acts.

Argument was heard by the supreme court yesterday in the case of H. M. Dorsey, governor, vs. W. A. Wright, comptroller general, to determine the constitutionality of the enactment of the highway and motor vehicle acts of 1919. All of the judges were on the bench with the exception of Justice Atkinson, who was out of town.

As a speedy decision is desired by all parties in the case, it is believed that the court will hand down its opinion some time next week.

The governor's side of the case was argued by H. J. Quincey, counsel for the highway commission, while General Wright was represented by Attorney General R. A. Denny and his assistant, Graham Wright. Practically the same arguments as repeated and the same authorities used that were brought to bear on Judge John T. Pendleton of Fulton superior court in the original hearing before him.

In addition to citing decisions to show that the engrossed act rule was the law in Georgia, Mr. Quincey told the court that the upsetting of these laws would involve the legality of a great number of other acts and lead to endless litigation. He said that there was no record in the senate journal that an aye and nay vote had been taken on the bill to enlarge the jurisdiction of the court of appeals and to increase the numb state senators from 44 to 51. both of which were constitutional amendments and required a roll call.

For the court to upset its already established rule, he declared, would involve the legality of a great many acts passed by the present general assembly which has 51 senators, as an investigation would have to be made to determine just how the added senators voted in each case and whether a bill had received a constitutional majority without them.

On the other hand, Messrs. Denny and Wright contended that the section of the constitution involved had never been passed upon by the supreme court of Georgia. They said that the constitutional declaration that "no bill or resolution appropriating money shall become a law, unless upon its passage the ayes and nays in each house are recorded," was not mandatory upon the legislature alone but fixed an absolute condition precedent to the enactment of any appropriation measure. Without that it was no law.

They cited numerous opinions, chief of which were a decision of the supreme court of North Carolina and one of the United States supreme court by Justice Harlan. Besides the oral argument, exhaustive briefs were filed by both sides.

DANGER IS AVERTED OF GREAT RAIL STRIKE

situation at the door of President Wilson.

Mr. Lee charged that the president had permitted the railway administration "to dally along" for nearly a year after the men presented their demands, and that it took the president forty days to appoint the railway labor board after the Esch-Cummins bill authorizing it, had become law.

"We are here to discuss some way of avoiding the danger because of the government's delay in passing on our wage demands," Mr. Lee said. "Unless immediate action is taken we fear the transportation system will be paralyzed. We don't know why there should be any longer delay by the railroad board. Every pressure possible has been brought to secure a decision.

"One of the biggest dangers to be faced now is the one big union idea, propaganda of which is responsible for the sporadic strikes now going on. It is up to the powers to decide whether they want the one big union idea, which caused strife in 1894, or whether they want the strong, sane organizations which have kept the men in a reasonable mood for many years."

Announcement Brings Relief.

Washington, June 25.—News that the railroad labor board, sitting in Chicago, would hand down its decision on the pending wage demands of workers by July 20 brought relief to officials here.

Reports had been current all day that there would be a resumption of insurgent strikes throughout the country if the board did not make its award immediately, and officials were frankly worried. The reports were so persistent that they came to the attention of the white house.

Now, however, it is believed the men will be satisfied with news their demands will be disposed of soon, and the assurance that any increase will be retroactive to May 1. Complaint against the delay of the board has been the chief cause for dissatisfaction, and leaders of the men warned the president a serious situation would develop unless substantial increases were allowed at once.

Belief here is that the board will not allow the full requests, which affected more than 2,000,000 workers and added more than a billion dollars annually to the railroad labor bill. However, it was believed the recommendations will be for a large share of the amount.

One of the immediate effects of increased wages will be that the railroad, will ask higher freight rates. They now have asked a 25 per cent higher schedule, which the interstate commerce commission is considering. No provision for higher wages is included, railroad executive asserting the entire added income will be needed for greater operating costs and extensions.

If the full demands of the workers were met, it would mean another 25 per cent freight increase, adding something over a billion dollars a year to railroad income.

ATHENS TO GREET U. S. TRUCK CONVOY ON NEXT MONDAY

Athens, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Final preparations were made at a meeting of Athens Chamber of Commerce today at 4 o'clock for the entertainment of the government motor truck convoy en route to Los Angeles which arrives in Athens from Hartwell Monday afternoon, June 28. Over one hundred automobiles will go to Hartwell from Athens Monday and escort the convoy composed of fifty automobiles and trucks and two hundred and twenty-two men to Athens. The convoy is expected to arrive in Atlanta June 30.

Mr. Hale secured the indorsement of the Athens Chamber of Commerce to his proposition and will meet a committee of bankers and manufacturers here July 2 for the purpose of raising Athens' quota of stock in the South Atlantic Export company, whose purpose is to ship products of the south and middle west to foreign countries by way of south Atlantic ports rather than northeastern ports.

SAVANNAH ROAD WORK MAY SUSPEND SOON

Savannah, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—A recent order of the interstate commerce commission ordering the discontinuing of deliveries of road construction materials to southern road work contractors for a time will very soon suspend highway construction and street paving in Chatham and Savannah, it was announced today. There is material on hand for the work of a month in the county scheme of complete highway system of permanent roads, and enough on hand for a mile and a half more of street laying in the city. Beyond that the officials and contractors are at sea.

The county commissioners will next week open bids on the Savannah-to-Tybee road, the last of four projects in the county aggregating two million dollars' worth of roads. There are four bridges on this road; if it can be consummated, it will place Georgia in touch by automobile with the sea at Tybee beach. More interest than in any other contract has been noted in the Tybee bids, local and outside concerns filing estimates.

NEGRO DECAPITATED BY HOTEL ELEVATOR

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Mark Armstrong, a negro employee of the Hotel Dempsey, was decapitated here today when struck by the full weight of an elevator while he was engaged in cleaning out the pit of the elevator shaft. The hotel management has so far been unable to fix the blame for the accident, the regular elevator boy claiming some one else was operating the lift at the time.

CARSWELL FAVORS VEHICLE TAX LOAN

Two Bills Introduced in House Providing for the Temporary Use of Funds Collected Under Motor Vehicle Law.

Two bills introduced by Representative Carswell, of Wilkinson, chairman of the appropriations committee of the house, at Friday morning's session will bring to an issue next week whether the state road aid fund collected under the motor vehicle law shall be used temporarily to pay appropriations already made and to be made at the general assembly this summer.

Section 1 of Mr. Carswell's first bill says: "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same that the funds now in the state treasury, arising from and known as the state aid road fund, be and the same are hereby appropriated to the general fund of the state treasury to be used and disbursed for the liquidation of appropriations heretofore made and still unpaid and for the general expense of the state government."

The second bill which is a companion bill to the first provides for the appropriation of a sufficient sum to replace in full the amounts expended from the state aid road fund on or before December 20, 1920, from the ad valorem taxes to be collected for the current year.

Both of these bills were referred to the appropriations committee, which will be called together at an early date next week by Chairman Carswell to consider them.

With a view to ascertaining just what the status of the treasury is, a privileged resolution by Mr. Moye, of Randolph, was adopted, providing that the speaker of the house, the president of the senate, the chairmen of the appropriations committees of the house and senate, and of the ways and means committee of the house and the finance committee of the senate, confer with the governor, the treasurer and the comptroller general and report back to the house at as early a date as possible.

Only two measures were passed by the house Friday. They were a resolution by Mr. Tankersley, of Irwin, to pay a pension to Mrs. D. W. Pope, and one by the Floyd delegation to pay a pension to Mrs. Frances Shores.

Speaker Holder announced that he would call a meeting of the rules committee after adjournment Monday to recommend to the house a course of action for the coming week. It is expected that the calendar will be followed with four changes.

It is generally believed that the house will pass the bills introduced by Mr. Carswell as most of the members realize that something must be done to relieve the present embarassment of the treasury. There will be some opposition, however, led by Mr. Knight, of Berrien, from those who wish to see an immediate distribution of the fund to the counties according to post road mileage. Mr. Knight has announced that he would forego his per diem this year rather than have the fund diverted even temporarily to any other use than road building.

On motion of Mr. Neil, of Muscogee, vice chairman of the rules committee, the house voted to adjourn until Monday at 12 o'clock Barnes time, 11 o'clock Atlanta time.

EAST BALDWIN FARMER IS KILLED BY NEGRO

Milledgeville, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—DeWitt Faulkner, a young white farmer in East Baldwin, was shot and killed a few days ago by a negro, Tom Ray. The negro was indebted to Faulkner and resented Faulkner's efforts to collect it. He shot four times, Faulkner dying a few minutes afterward. Immediately after the shooting, Ray escaped to a nearby swamp, and although a posse of the white citizens has since been on the trail, he has not yet been captured.

SAVANNAH POLICEMEN DISMISSED BY MAYOR

Savannah, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Following the suspension by the chief of police of Sergeant A. M. Dominick and Patrolman Arline Tootle yesterday for failure to arrest a disorderly man who had cursed both officers, Mayor Stewart today dismissed both men, both of them veterans in service, from the force.

BANDITS RAID BANK AND SECURE $10,000

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—Five unmasked bandits held up employees of the Great Northern state bank here late today, probably fatally wounded Cashier Victor Redman and escaped in an automobile with $5,000 in cash, $5,000 in Liberty bonds and a quantity of non-negotiable paper.

Big Stock Sale.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—One of the largest stock sales ever held in this section was that of Chandler brothers, of this city. People from all over the state came to purchase some of the fine thoroughbred Jersey cattle. There were representatives of the agricultural departments of the state college at Athens, the Georgia and Central railroads, and business men from over the state. This herd of Jerseys was formerly owned by Charlie Bonner, of this city, who spent years in breeding this fine stock of cattle. Fourteen thousand dollars' worth were sold in a few hours. A movement is now on foot here to form a breeding association and convert some of the boll weevil farms into cattle farms with annual sales like this one.

PLAN CELEBRATION FOR 500,000 CITY

Drive for Half-Million Population for Atlanta Discussed at Meeting of Committee Friday.

Plans for participation in an elaborate celebration at Lakewood on July 5, when the drive for "Atlanta, the 500,000 city," will be launched, were formulated in tentative shape at a meeting at the city hall Friday afternoon of members of the "500,000 committee" appointed by Mayor Key. The personnel of the committee represents Atlanta's civic, educational, industrial and other allied interests, and Camp Gordon, Fort McPherson and Camp Jessup.

A subcommittee composed of Colonel R. C. Eddy, commander of Camp Jessup, chairman; Mrs. Sam D. Jones, George F. Eubanks, John Ashley Jones and George Watts, was appointed by Robert E. Harvey, chairman of the general committee, to confer with officials of the Southeastern Fair association on the details of the program to be arranged for the occasion.

Participation of the military was promised by Colonel C. R. Noyes, commander of Camp Gordon, and Colonel R. C. Eddy, commander of Camp Jessup. Colonel Noyes said that expiration of enlistment terms had so depleted the ranks of the Fifth division at Gordon that this camp could not make much of a parade showing, and it is probable that the soldiers will take part in the ceremonies attending the opening of the half-million drive with a big athletic tournament. The Gordon and Jessup bands will be present.

Soldiers Admitted Free.

Definite assurance was given at the meeting that all soldiers in uniform will be admitted through the gates to the grounds free on that day.

The committee set a movement on foot to make the Independence day celebration universal for Atlanta by adopting a motion of George F. Eubanks urging all business houses to close all day Monday, the fifth. "It ought to be a disgrace on any business that does not close all day just the same as it does on Christmas day," declared Mr. Eubanks. He represented the Kiwanis club.

Victor H. Kriegshaber said that there is already a movement under way among business men to close at noon on Saturday, July 3, and keep their establishments closed until Tuesday morning.

It was the prediction of the mayor and Victor Kriegshaber, an official of the fair association, that forty to fifty thousand people will flock to Lakewood for the Fourth of July celebration.

The program of horse and motorcycle racing, said to be one of the best ever brought to Lakewood, has already been booked. Nearly every prominent horseman in the south has entries in the harness races, and in the motorcycle events some of the best known riders in the country will contest. On Saturday and Monday nights there will be a mammoth fierworks display. The midway and other attractions will be in full swing.

Colonel Eddy announced at the meeting that the motor transport convoy which will arrive in the city Wednesday on its transcontinental tour over the Bankhead highway from Washington to Los Angeles in the interest of better roads, will stop over in Atlanta until after the fifth and on that day will encamp at Lakewood.

Will Inspect Convoy.

Those of the thousands who wish will have the opportunity to view and inspect in the convoy virtually every type of vehicle used in the United States army. The personnel consists of eight officers, ten civilians and 160 enlisted men, and they are traveling in more than seventy vehicles of various army types. Colonel John J. Franklin, Jr., is commander of the convoy.

Included among those present at the meeting Friday were Mrs. Irving Thomas, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, who promised the hearty co-operation of that organization; Mrs. Sam D. Jones, president of the War Mothers' club; Mrs. Norman Sharp and Mrs. Victor Kriegshaber. Colonel Noyes was accompanied by Colonel James Blyth, chief of staff.

Chairman Harvey and M. L. Bixler made short talks. H. Frank West was named secretary of the committee.

No Food for the Hair So Good as Cocoanut and Palm Oils

The proper blend of these oils when perfectly saponified add just that perequisite needed to give life to the hair and health to the scalp. So excellent are their virtues that they have been used separately for years as first aid for the hair.

When perfectly blended and suspended in solution, perfectly saponified as in Shuco Shampoo they are valuable and almost indispensable to the hair.

Soaps and the many cheap forms of emulsions do the hair more harm than good. They leave a harsh sticky film that covers the hair, stifles out its life and catches more dirt and dust than before.

Shuco Shampoo on the other hand softens the hair, puts new life into it, rinses out thoroughly and leaves it sweet, fluffy, lustrous and wavy. Your mirror will tell you why Shuco Shampoo makes hair with a thousand lights. 60c at all drug stores.—(adv.)

ACUTE INDIGESTION SOON RELIEVED

Arkansas Lady Says She Was In a Serious Condition, But Promptly Recovered After Taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

Peach Orchard, Ark.—Mrs. Etta Cox, of this place, says: "Some time ago I had a spell of acute indigestion, and was in a bad fix. I knew I must have a laxative, and tried Black-Draught. It relieved me, and I soon was all right.

"I can't say enough for Thedford's Black-Draught, and the great good it did for me.

"It is fine for stomach and liver trouble, and I keep it for this. A few doses soon make me feel as good as new. I am glad to tell others the good it did."

Acute indigestion is a serious matter and needs prompt treatment or dangerous results may ensue. A physician's help may be needed, but a good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught will be of benefit by relieving the system from the undigested food which is the cause of the trouble.

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way.

So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Thedford's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable, old well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach disorders.

Baby's Food

The high mortality of infants (one out of three) is due very largely to the fact that the baby cannot select its own food, as does the adult, but must take what is given it. Often the food is inferior in quality, or even positively poisonous.

How can the mother tell whether the baby's food is right?

One way is to watch the actions. If they are regular and natural and the baby is gaining in weight, the food is all right. Constipation and diarrhoea both indicate indigestion and should have immediate attention.

To correct indigestion and regulate the stomach and bowels the baby specialists have perfected a gentle laxative and regulator called "Baby Ease" laxative, which the mother may obtain, with full directions, at any drug store. "Baby Ease" is an invaluable aid to the baby's health, and no mother should be without it for emergencies.

Do not use the strong and irritating laxatives such as are commonly used, nor anything containing opiates or powerful drugs. They irritate the delicate organs and lead to chronic indigestion and constipation. "Baby Ease" laxative is a corrective and regulator as well as a gentle laxative, and will promptly and permanently correct indigestion, colic, diarrhoea and constipation. The mother should then look carefully to the purity, freshness and wholesomeness of the baby's food, the cleanliness of the bottles, etc., and should consult the physician if the child does not steadily gain in weight.—(adv.)

Before There Was Any Atlanta Mrs. Mary E. Crumbley Was Here

Mrs. Mary E. Crumbley, of Bowdon, Carroll county, and her foster son, M. J. Brook, of East Point.

Mrs. Mary E. Crumbley, of Bowdon, Carroll county, Georgia, claims the distinction of being one of Atlanta's oldest citizens, from the fact that she lived here during her childhood, and before there was any village, town, railroad, hotel or dry goods store.

She is now 84 years old, and during the past few weeks has ridden all over Atlanta in an automobile, covering the same territory over which she used to ride on horseback.

Mrs. Crumbley is visiting M. J. Brook, of East Point, who is her foster son, she having reared him from babyhood.

She has been very active during all the long years of her life, but now she says she is taking a rest. She spends her time sitting on the porch and reading the newspapers, and is very much interested in news, whether political, social or foreign.

Her reminiscences of the days before Atlanta are most interesting.

Beautiful Dancing Party For Miss Jernigan.

Miss Dorothy Jernigan, one of the prettiest and most popular of the younger set just graduated from school, was guest of honor at a delightful dancing party given last night by her aunt, Mrs. Mac McAlpin, on Spring street.

Seventy five young people were invited and the whole spacious reception floor was thrown together for the dancing. Ferns and a profusion of June flowers were used in decoration, and dainty refreshments were served. The punch bowl was set in the midst of ferns and flowers on the porch. A large orchestra provided the music.

Mrs. McAlpin wore a becoming pink taffeta draped with tulle. Miss Jernigan wore a dainty dancing gown of pink tulle and silver.

COAL SITUATION WORSE IN NEW ENGLAND STATES

Boston, June 25.—The statement that the bituminous coal situation in New England was rapidly growing worse was made by James J. Storrow, state fuel administratdr, tonight.

"There is not coal enough in New England now," he said, "to meet the daily needs. The coal that has arrived on the railroads of New England is not anywhere near sufficient for their own daily consumption, and about the only way some of them are keeping trains moving at all is by confiscating what they call commercial coal, right and left.

"The situation today is far more serious than it was during the summer we entered the war. We are going backwards fast. It is about the most serious coal situation we have ever faced."

Mr. Storrow said that so far as anthracite coal for use in the homes was concerned, there was nothing at present to alarm householders.

PLANKS FOR PLATFORM SUBMITTED BY WOMEN

San Francisco, June 25.—The women members of the executive committee of the democratic national committee today decided to recommend that no reference be made to the prohibition question in the platform to be adopted by the convention.

It was also agreed to recommend that President Wilson's stand on the peace treaty and league of nations be approved.

The following planks submitted by the labor committee of the women's bureau of the democratic national committee, Mrs. Robert Bruce Bruere, New York, chairman, were adopted:

"We affirm the right of collective bargaining between employers and employees through representatives of their own choosing. We approve also the national industrial councils established by employers and employees within the various industries, the findings of which shall have the effect of ordinary collective agreements, but not of judicial decisions subject to compulsory enforcement.

"We insist on the abolition of the labor of children under 14 years, and that children between 14 and 18 shall be permitted to work only after passing examination by local school and health authorities, assuring proper standards of health and education.

"We affirm our belief in the principles of the democratic platform of 1916, and again urge the general adoption of the eight-hour day.

"We believe that wages should be put on the basis of service, not of sex, and that minimum wages should be fixed which will insure to all wage earners a proper standard of health, comfort and efficiency.

"We urge that the federal trade commission be given greater powers over the basic food industries of life.

"We advocate the development of a national system of employment offices under control of federal and state boards. To meet the problems of seasonal requirements of agriculture we urge the organization of a voluntary labor corps for harvesting with transportation subsidies.

"We advocate the extension and development of the bureau of women in industry established by the democratic party in the department of labor. We also urge the appointment of women on all government boards and tribunals dealing with industry and labor.

"We recommend the protection of womanhood and infancy according to the best modern experience."

A resolution urging the establishment of a department of education, with a cabinet officer at its head, also was adopted.

105,000,000 PEOPLE IN THE UNITED STATES

Washington, June 25.—The population of continental United States is estimated at 105,000,000 by J. A. Hill, chief statistician of the census bureau. His calculation is based on the combined populations of 1,406 cities and towns for which statistics have been announced.

The increase over 1910 is placed at about 13,000,000, showing the growth of the country has not kept pace with previous decades. Almost complete cessation of immigration during the war is the chief reason assigned for the falling off in growth. Other suggestions were the two influenza epidemics, return of aliens to their native lands and deaths of soldiers abroad and at home during the war.

The aggregate population of the cities and towns on which the estimate was made is 41,029,354. This is an average gain of 26 per cent compared with 35 per cent in the previous decade.

MOTHER IS AWARDED CUSTODY OF CLARK BOY

Lyerly, Ga., June 25.—(Special.) Mrs. Minnie Clark was awarded permanent custody of her 5-year-old son after the child had been taken away from her by her husband, Freeman Clark, and placed in the care of his relatives, in a writ of habeas corpus proceedings instituted by her counsel, W. B. Mebane, of Rome, the trial coming up before Ordinary J. P. Johnston, at Summerville, this week. The case was sensational and all the parties are prominent.

Mrs. Clark, before her marriage to Clark, was Miss Minnie Morrison, daughter of Thomas Morrison, at that time a resident of near Lyerly, and Clark is a son of J. B. Clark, of Holland, near here. It developed at the trial that Mr. and Mrs. Clark up to about ten days ago had been operating a restaurant at Cedartown and that some disagreement arose and that the child was taken by the father and placed in the care of a sister in this county.

Socialist Candidate Challenges Coolidge To Debate the Issues

Chicago, June 25.—Seymour Stedman, of Chicago, candidate for vice president on the socialist ticket, has challenged Governor Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, republican vice presidential nominee, to a debate on the issues of the presidentail campaign, it was announced tonight at socialist national headquarters.

The time and place of the debate will be decided by mutual agreement, a letter dispatched to Governor Coolidge said. The letter said that "a public discussion would aid the public to grasp more clearly our differences in purpose."

Boston, June 25.—Henry F. Long, secretary to Governor Coolidge, said tonight that he had acknowledged receipt of Seymour Stedman's challenge to a debate on the campaign issues, but that inasmuch as the republican nominee for the vice presidency is busy this week with several college commencements in New England, there had been no opportunity to bring the letter to his attention.

SENATOR HITCHCOCK REFUSES SECOND PLACE

Washington, June 25.—Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, announced today that he would not accept the democratic vice presidential nomination.

Senator Hitchcock's announcement was made in a telegram to Arthur F. Mullen, member of the democratic national committee from Nebraska, answering a letter in which Mr. Mullen had said the senator was being prominently mentioned for the vice presidency.

"I am not a candidate for vice president, and would not accept the nomination for second place," the telegram said.

The democratic platform will not contain either a wet or dry plank, in the opinion of Senator Hitchcock, but he expressed the conviction today that it will include a strong lehgue of nations plank.

"I cannot conceive that the democratic party will place a plank in the platform declaring for or against prohibition," he said. "Prohibition is not properly an issue between democrats. If a dry plank were inserted it would mean the reading out of the party those democrats who had not favored prohibition. If a wet plank were adopted it would mean that the men who believe in prohibition must be outside the party."

POLICE SERGEANT KILLED BY SNIPERS

Hamilton, Ohio, June 25.—Charles J. Stegemann, police desk sergeant, was killed by snipers in a pitched battle between officers and the Bolen family north of this city early today.

James Bolen was shot several times and it is believed he will die. Lee and Elin Bolen are under arrest. James Bolen fired the shot which killed the officer, according to the police.

The trouble started following an investigation by the police of a disturbance there last night. Officers armed with riot guns surrounded the house this morning and Stegemann and Detectives Dulle and Jones started up the steps to make the arrest when, the police say, Bolen opened fire with a shotgun.

One of the snipers was said to have been a woman.

PALMER AND ROOTERS REACH SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, June 25.—Attorney General Palmer arrived here today and took personal charge of his campaign for the presidency.

Accompanied by two trainloads of Pennsylvanians, including the 76 Pennsylvania delegates pledged to his support, the attorney general was met at the union ferry by a crowd and a brass band.

Mrs. Palmer, Vance C. McCormick, of Pennsylvania, a former national chairman, and Roland C. Norris, ambassador to Japan, were among those aboard the Pennsylvania specials which gained five hours on their schedule between Chicago and San Francisco and arrived here four hours ahead of time.

The attorney general declined to make any statement about prohibition, the league of nations, or any other disputed platform issue.

"In coming to the convention myself," he said, "I am only following the practice of a lifetime. Ever since I have been a voter, I have been a member of precinct, ward, county, state or national committee and I expect to be a working organization democrat as long as I am able to work. I so firmly believe that the continued success of the democratic party is necessary to the welfare of the country that I look upon participation in the active work of the party as a paramount patriotic duty.

"I am attending the convention, not so much for the purpose of advancing my own candidacy for the nomination, as to take part in the councils of the party in considering the wise and proper course which the democratic party should pursue this year. Who shall be nominated is a relatively unimportant matter. It is, however, all important that the ideals of historic Americanism, of constitutional democracy and of impartial enforcement of law be upheld to the uppermost.

"I am hopeful that our party in striking contrast to the republican party's action at Chicago, will declare for the maintenance of America's courageous leadership in the world which she filled during the war and which she must fill through all the peace times of the future if our American ideals and purposes shall be truly achieved. I propose to do what I can to see that our party platform shall make no surrender to any interest or class or clique or group, but shall express the common conviction of the great mass of everyday Americans."

Ambassador Morris issued a statement advocating Mr. Palmer's candidacy and praising the attorney general's "gift of leadership, his progressive views, his courage and his devotion to American ideals."

An Ordinance to extend pipe from water main to curb lines in Rosedale road, from Greenwood avenue to city limits.

Whereas, by amendment to the charter of the city of Atlanta, approved August 19, 1912, the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta were authorized and empowered to extend pipes from water mains to curb line prior to paving or repaving streets in which such water mains are laid, and to assess the cost of such extension against the abutting property owners, provided that such extensions should be made only for every fifty (50) feet of frontage, unless the property owner waives this requirement.

Therefore, be it resolved by the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta as follows:

Section 1. That water pipes be extended from the water mains in Rosedale road between its intersection with Greenwood avenue and city limits from said water mains to the curb line in front of the abutting property along said portion of said street at intervals corresponding to one extension for every fifty (50) feet of frontage on either side of said portion of said street.

Said extensions to be constructed of pipe of material and size as follows: Three-quarter (¾) inch galvanized wrought iron, and at an estimated cost of Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars, said sum to be taken from appropriation to Department of Waterworks.

Section 2. That upon the construction of said several extensions in said portion of said street, a list of the property owners with the amount to be assessed against the abutting property of each owner shall be filed with the mayor and general council, and an assessing ordinance passed specifically providing the amount of money to be paid by each lot or lots along said portion of said street.

Section 3. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Said ordinance will come up for passage at the meeting of general council to be held Monday, July 5, 1920, at 3 o'clock p. m. at the City Hall, in the council chamber.

WALTER C. TAYLOR,
Clerk of Council.

HOOVER WOULD CUT LEAGUE ARTICLE 10

And Then Speedily Ratify Versailles Treaty. He Says Article Means Military Alliance.

New York, June 25.—Speedy ratification of the treaty of Versailles, after the elimination of Article 10 of the league of nations covenant, was urged by Herbert C. Hoover in a statement published today in The New York Evening Post as the platform on which the republican party should stand in the coming presidential election.

Mr. Hoover took the stand that the implied threat of employment of military force to guarantee the integrity of foreign states was out of place in a league which he declared was "the product of the liberal ideals of the world." The league's power, he declared, would be more potent if the threat of military force were removed and the league of nations relied wholly on its "moral and economic power."

"It appears to me to be time to raise the question," said Hoover, "as to whether this same cause I refer to—the guarantees and the use of military force—that has brought about the dissension in the United States is not also undermining the league in Europe. I put it to the friends of the league in all countries. Has not experience and discussion shown that the time has arrived to reconsider this part of the league foundation?"

To Control Aggressive States.

The basic need for such a "military alliance" as he sees in the league covenant with Article 10 intact, Mr. Hoover pointed out, was to "control states which persist in armament which renders them capable of aggressive action."

While he expressed the belief that economic measures eventually would prevail even against such states, he declared the "first and foremost duty of the league" was reduction of all armaments, and he suggested that America's continuance as a league member be conditional on the achievement of a reduction within a specified time.

Mr. Hoover declared that sooner or later the United States must ratify the treaty of Versailles in some form, and that talk of negotiating a new treaty was "bunk."

"The treaty of Versailles," he said, "is the charter of independence of Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and Finland, and the warrant of increased national territory of several great nations, and they are not going to reopen discussion as to their titles. It is the guarantee of the disarmament of four great autocracies, and no European nation is going to risk their revival. It is a mortgage upon the enemy states, and they are not going to offer the opportunity to Germany, Austria, Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria, to escape their debts by intrigue at a new peace conference.

Covenant Part of Treaty.

"The league of nations covenant is an essential part of the treaty. It does possess two functions: First, it gives the title to mandates; it today governs certain neutralized areas; it ramifies the score of details of settlement with enemy states. Its second function is its provisions for prevention of future war. The first phase can no more be reopened than the treaty itself. The second function relates to the future and is subject to amendment; it can be amended by the league organization itself.

"In the face of these conditions," he concluded, "cannot the republican party strengthen its own position by adopting the definite constructive policy of ratification subject to the minor reservations and a wider vision of strengthening the league by excluding the guarantees and their military enforcement—making membership in the league conditional upon disarmament within a given period? Such policies will protect American independence, free us from every entanglement except the use of our moral and economic strength to enforce peace. It will leave our democratic friends fencing upon the ground of advocacy of a practical military alliance—upon which their safety devices only further endanger the real value of the league."

TWO YOUTHS CONVICTED OF MURDERING WOMAN

New Orleans, La., June 25.—Felix J. Birbiglia, aged 21, dishonorably discharged from the United States navy, and Charles Zalenka, aged 19, his friend and accomplice, late today were found guilty in criminal district court of the murder April 21, of Mrs. Bertha Neason.

According to confessions introduced as evidence by the state, the two young men induced Mrs. Neason, whose husband was on duty on a naval transport to accompany them on a ride to a lonely spot on the "Turtle Back" road near the Orleans canal, where they shot her and after stripping valuable diamond ornaments from her threw the body in a pool of water.

The 17-year-old chauffeur, son of a police corporal, terrified and threatened with death, according to his testimonies, drove the pair back to the city where the diamonds were hidden. The chauffeur then drove to his father's house where he told his story with the result that the pair were arrested. Confessions to Superintendent of Police Mooney followed and Birbiglia guided the police to the place where he said he and Zelenka had hidden the diamonds. The stones were recovered.

During the trial each defendant blamed the other solely for the crime and declared they were intoxicated and not responsible for the happenings on the night of the murder.

The verdict of the jury, "guilty as charged," carries with it the death penalty under the laws of Louisiana.

New York, June 25.—An early rally in the cotton market was followed by a renewal of general selling, and new crop months broke into new low ground for the movement. October contracts sold off from 33.47 to 32.70 and closed at 32.98, with the general market closing steady at a net advance of 40 points on July, but generally 23 to 30 points lower.

The early feature was the strength of the July position. Notices estimated at between 6,000 and 8,000 bales were reported in circulation, and July sold at 35.50 at the opening, but trade interests were good buyers of the near month and there seemed to be some competition for the noitce in circulation. At any rate, the price advanced to 36.20 during the middle of the day, or 55 points above the close of yesterday.

A good many of the July contracts purchased were resold in October, but new crop months responded to the near month advance during the early trading, selling about 21 to 25 points above last night's closing figures.

As soon as covering slackened, however, prices eased off again owing to continued good weather in the south and unfavorable trade advices, including private cables predicting short time in Lancashire. December broke from 32.30 to 31.61, and July sold off to nearly the opening figures, but made a sharp recovery in the late trading. New crop months also showed rallies of about 26 to 28 points from the lowest, on renewed covering.

A private crop report published by a Memphis authority made the condition 69.3 and pointed to an increase of 1 per cent in acreage.

October contracts at the low point of this afternoon showed a decline of 4 cents per pound from the high price of the month and 273 points from the high price touched on the high rally of last Saturday.

Port receipts today, 5,183. United States stocks, 937,620.

Exports, 4,530, making 6,140,410 so far this season.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.
New York, June 25.—Spot cotton, steady; middling, 38.25.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET HAS IRREGULAR CLOSE

New Orleans, La., June 25.—Trading in cotton today was along broad and active lines, but while the market was at a substantial advance at one time and at a fairly wide decline at another, the close was irregular, 11 points up to 23 points down, net for the session. July was the strongest month and its strength was derived from the fact that first notice day brought tenders of only 700 bales which were quickly absorbed, while spot houses were said to be buyers of July on the weak periods of the day.

Around the opening prices were 9 to 14 points down, under uncertainty over notices, but when it was seen that the notices were not circulating, the market did better and the improvement persisted until prices were 29 to 36 points higher than the close of yesterday, July reaching 36.10 and October 33.27. These were the high levels for the day.

Good weather in the belt, the report from Houston that the first two bales of the new crop were due there either today or tomorrow, and unfavorable accounts from both England and American mill centers, caused a selling and a decline, although at first the market gave ground grudgingly because of rather extensive covering of short contracts. At the close prices were 29 to 34 under yesterday's close, July trading at 35.50 and October at 32.25. Late in the day the tone was steadier on a resumption of the covering movement among shorts.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, June 25.—(Special.)—In the early part of the day the cotton market was steady on buying by local bulls, who appeared to be attempting to stem the tide of liquidation. Selling continued general, however, especially as the weather reports continue very optimistic and the publication of The Commercial-Appeal's estimate of condition of 69.3 undoubtedly helped influence sentiment. Selling was likewise promoted on advice from Liverpool that Lancaster and other spinning centers will shortly operate on reduced time, owing to a steady diminution of business. Under the circumstances, we expect to see prices temporarily lower. But on any decline to approximately 32 cents for October, we would advise purchases.

JOHNSON BROS.

New Orleans, June 25.—(Special.)—Remaining under the influences of generally favorable weather, a more encouraging crop outlook, dear money and expectation of two new bales at Houston today or tomorrow, the first of this year's crop, the market ruled lower today. Returns to The Memphis Commercial-Appeal average the condition of cotton at 69.3 against their report of 65.4 last month, indicates an increase of 1 per cent in the acreage, pointing to a yield of 11,500,000 bales, exclusive of linters.

Bears made capital of the report of the marketing of the year's first new bale, but when they learn at what price new crop cotton is likely to sell at, perhaps around 40 cents, they will probably be less disposed to offer new crop deliveries at so great a discount. At this time last year the season was drawing to a close wherein consumption by the world of American cotton was only 10,620,000 bales. This year the season is drawing to a close in which consumption will likely approximate 12,500,000 bales, while private estimate for next season's consumption are 13,500,000. Therefore, the status of the cotton situation appears healthy, prevailing unfavorable outside conditions notwithstanding. Spots quiet, sales 444; middling 39.75, 25 down.

EXTREMELY DULL IN STOCK TRADING

Business Near Season's Low Level, the Sales Amounting to Only 275,000 Shares—Prices Stagnant.

New York, June 25.—Business on the stock exchange today registered almost the lowest level of seasonal dullness, transactions for the full five hours scarcely approximating 275,000 shares.

The movement of prices, while firm to strong in the main, reflected this stagnant condition. The usual market favorites advanced and receded within a radius of 1 to 3 points, fractional gains ruling at the close.

Almost the only stocks to manifest consistent heaviness were the metals, that group evidently laboring under the disadvantages resulting from yesterday's cut in the Inspiration copper dividend. Low-priced oils also lost ground for a time, but rallied in the general upturn of the last hour.

So far as pools participated in the day's trading, their efforts were again chiefly directed toward steels, equipments, oils and chemicals. Secondary rails, especially St. Paul preferred, Missouri Pacific preferred, Rock Island, Western Pacific, New York Central and New Haven also responded to moderate buying.

Developments directly affecting the stock market were re-engaged as more reassuring. Call money held between 9 and 11 per cent, compared with yesterday's minimum of 14 per cent.

Gold import rumors assumed more definite form in the prospective receipts of a small consignment of the metal from London, with intimations that a larger amount is in transit to this market. Leading foreign exchange rates, however, have not materially altered.

In the bond market foreign issues were again the only feature. Anglo-French 2's changing hands in large blocks up to the new high of 99½. Liberty bonds and most domestic issues advanced slightly.

Total sales, par $11,850,000.

Old United States unchanged on call.

Easier Money Expected After First of Month

BY WALTER B. BROWN,
Editor New York Commercial. Written for the United News.

New York, June 25.—Owing to the extremely small volume of business transacted today, there was very little opportunity for the market to give expression one way or the other. At the same time the undertone was firm, with an indication of continued firmness.

Call money opened at 9 per cent, which was the highest renewal rate for many weeks, and the rate finally touched 11 per cent. All of which was without any particular effect.

The arrival of gold on the Mauretania tomorrow with a further shipment on the Olympic, sailing tomorrow, substantiates the predictions that have been made that there would be considerable gold shipped during the next few months.

Easier money is expected after July 1, and it is believed that definite progress will be made toward settling the wage disputes now disturbing the industrial situation, and it is confidently believed that the interstate commerce commission will agree to an increase in freight rates, thus relieving the railroad situation.

Various groups of shippers are protesting against any freight rate advance, which is not at all surprising because the tendency is to look at a situation from the point of view of one's surroundings. Yet it must be realized that the railroads have got to be brought back to a state of the highest efficiency if the country is to maintain its forward movement. If this is done, some one has got to pay the bill. Either it will have to be borne directly by those interested and indirectly by those who depend upon the distribution of commodities, or it will have to be paid out of the public treasury by taxation. The only other alternative is a break down in transportation, which means a berakdown for the country itself.

It is believed that these facts are generally realized now, and that in spite of protests here and there, raises in railroad rates will be expected. It means, therefore, that constructive measures are in sight, which, with both the republican and democratic conventions out of the way, will give the stock market an opportunity to respond and will undoubtedly induce the public to get back into it, the public having been conspicuously absent.

Former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Leffingwell, who has just given up his office, stated that if only he had money available, he would invest it in Liberty bonds at present prices. Bankers generally are advising their purchase, for there is no question but that they are a good investment as they stand now.

DUN'S FINDS TRADE LULL IS RESULT OF MANY FACTORS

New York, June 25.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"While the close of the first half of a year is usually approached with some shrinkage in volume of business, yet seasonal influences partly explain the contraction of operations that is evident in various quarters.

"Retarding factors at present do not appear most conspicuously in weather conditions or in vacation interruptions, as is sometimes the case at this period, but rather in transportation difficulties, which are intensified by fresh labor troubles in some localities, in monetary restrictions and price uncertainties.

"These are elements that have lately combined, with some other phases, to appreciably curtail commedcial transactions, and the prevailing lull, in view of its causes, may prove to be more than a passing development.

JULY CORN WEAK; RECEIPTS LIBERAL

Market Closed Steady, 2 1-8 Cents Net Lower to 1 Cent Gain—Oats Make Slight Decline.

Chicago, June 25.—Weakness in the July delivery was a feature of the corn market today, whereas September and December were firm. Continued liberal receipts, together with absence of any urgent shipping demand here, had a bearish effect on July. Shorts in the later months covered.

The close was unsettled, 2⅛ cents net lower to 1 cent advance, with July 174⅛ to 175, and September, 167⅝ to 117¾. Oats finished unchanged to ⅛ cents down, and provisions off 5 cents to 60 cents.

The first trading in future deliveries of wheat was reported from Baltimore today, with September selling early at 2.85 and closing at 2.83.

Much of the heavy selling which took place in the July delivery of corn appeared to come from industries and elevator interests. As a consequence of this selling, the July-September difference narrowed to 7¾ cents as against 9 cents yesterday and 10 cents the day before.

On the other hand, uneasiness over possibility of indefinite widening of railway labor difficulties tended to promote evening up of contracts on the part of shorts, especially in the July and September deliveries.

Most of the dealings in oats were of a local character. Favorable weather conditions prevailed, but field advices did not brighten.

Provisions fell with hogs.

Crackers Lose Again; Ruth Hits Two Homers

Edited by Cliff Wheatley

TRAVELERS WIN GAME BY RALLY

By Henry Loesch.

Little Rock, Ark., June 25.—(Special.)—"Red" Wingo thought that he might possibly make a shoestring catch on "Dutch" Hengeveld's low line drive to left field in the ninth inning with the Crackers one run in the lead on the Travelers. "Red" made an awful mistake. He didn't get close to making a catch and the ball bounded away for a three-base hit which put the winning run over the plate. Then Dick Kauffman thought maybe a change of pitchers would help, so he hurried Tom Sheehan into relieve Dan Boone. Tom got two strikes on Distel and then he put another one over the plate. The squeeze play was on and when Distel rolled the ball back to Tom, Hengeveld raced over the plate with the winning run. Tom didn't have a chance to get Hengeveld at the plate and he did not even try for Distel at first.

The Travelers' ninth inning rally was the conclusion of a game that featured all sorts of baseball.

Boone Touched Freely.

The Travelers hit Boone very freely, but they never would have beaten him but for Wingo's fatal mistake in the ninth, Damrau's wild throw in the eighth and a wierd throw to second by Hager in the fourth, and a few other bad plays.

On the other hand, the Crackers did not deserve but one run off Yellowhorse, although they made four. McGinnis' loose work at short was responsible for the four the Crackers made in the fifth and was responsible for the departure of Yellowhorse and the entrance of Hengeveld.

Crackers Open in First.

The Crackers got after Yellowhorse in the first inning. After Martin had gone out Mayer singled to center and scored on High's long drive to right. Charlie tried to make it a homer and was nipped at the plate.

The Travelers tied the score in the second. Miller opened with a single to right, advanced on Brottem's out and scored on McGinnis' triple to left. Little Mac was snuffed out at the plate when the squeeze play failed.

The Travelers went into the lead in the fourth. After Moore had lifted to High, Harper singled to right. He was forced at second by Miller. "Bing" stole second and scored when Brottem singled to center. Tony went to second when Mayer let the ball go through him. McGinnis lined a pretty single to center and Brottem scored. Wano lined out to Wingo.

Atlanta Takes Lead.

The Travelers apparently gave the game away in the fifth. Damrau singled to left. Hager grounded to McGinnis, who attempted to rush the play for a double and let the ball get away from him. Damrau went to third and Hager to second. Boone lifted to Moore, but Martin singled to left and both runners scored. Hengeveld relieved Yellowhorse. Mayer lifted a fly over short which McGinnis lost and let drop for a hit. High lined a single to right and Martin scored. Wingo lifted a long fly to Frierson and Mayer scored after the catch. "Dutch" passed Kauffman and Smith, but he got 'em over for Damrau, who ended the inning by lifting to Miller.

The Travelers passed up several chances, but put one over in the eighth. With one out, Harper lined a single to center. Harry turned first and headed for second, but saw he could not make the extra base and returned to first. Damrau took Mayer's throw and tried to pick Harper off first. Instead he hit Harry on the head with the ball, which then bounded against the grandstand. Harper collapsed at second base, but he quickly revived and was sent to third. Ground rules gave him the extra base. Miller walked. Brottem rolled a slow one to Smith, who threw Toney out at first, but Harper scored on the out.

Travelers Win Out.

Then came the Travelers' last chance. Wano opened the ninth with a single to center. Zoellers, who had batted for Frierson in the seventh and had gone to the outfield, tried to sacrifice, but Boone fielded his bunt and threw Wano out at second. Hengeveld then drove a stinging liner to left which Wingo let go for three bases. Zoellers scored and Distel squeezed Hengeveld home.

The Crackers and Travelers are down for a double-header today. Lohman and probably Robinson will work for the Travelers. Sheehan will pitch the first for the Crackers. The second pitcher is a big uncertainty. Sammy Mayer may try it again or it may be "Red" Wingo will make the effort. Then again, maybe Morgan Blake will show his famous form for the Arkansas fans.

PELS START SUIT AGAINST SEMI-PROS

New Orleans, La., June 25.—(Special.)—W. W. Young, attorney for the New Orleans Baseball club, arrived at Jackson, Miss., this morning for the purpose of applying for a federal injunction to restrain the Jackson club from using the services of Tim Murchison, southpaw, who jumped the Pels a few days ago. Mr. Young has retained Scott & Scott, a Jackson law firm, to assist him in the case.

Judge Edwin Holmes, before whom the case will be decided, is holding court at Biloxi and will not reach Jackson until Saturday or Sunday. When the application for an injunction is filed, the Jackson club will file a motion, according to President Sullens, that New Orleans club be required to give bond to indemnify the Jackson stockholders against damages, Murchison having been appointed manager of the team today.

Vols Win Another.

Nashville, Tenn., June 25.—After Mobile misplays coupled with Haid's wildness and timely hitting had given Tomlin a commanding lead, he weakened in the seventh after being hit by Haid, but a tenth inning rally gave Nashville the game, 7 to 6. Knaupp opened the tenth with a single, was sacrificed, and scored on Brown's single. The hitting of Ducote with two doubles and two singles featured.

Pirates Beat Cubs.

Pittsburg, June 25.—Pittsburg defeated Chicago today 6 to 3, due mainly to their ability to pole out long hits off Hendrix. Carey stole home with the run that put the Pirates in the lead, and they were never headed after the third inning. Cooper was hit hard early in the game, but tightened up after the third inning. He led also in the attacks on Hendrix with a single and a triple, scoring two runs.

Good support for Cadore in the pinches, Fillingim's wildness and timely hitting gave the visitors the opener. The second game Scott allowed only five hits. Cruises' outfielding and batting and Ford's hitting, which was responsible for three runs, assisted in Boston's victory.

AMERICA'S DAVIS CUP TEAM WINS

Wimbledon, June 25.—American Tennis players with the exception of those who participated in the mixed doubles won all their matches in today's play for the British lawn tennis championships.

The American Davis cup player, William M. Johnston of California, who is out of the running for the singles, and William T. Tilden, of Philadelphia, who yesterday won from the British expert, J. C. Parke, combined their skill in the doubles today, and in a brilliant match defeated Andre Gobert and William M. Laurentz, of the French Davis cup team. The score was 6-2; 6-0; 4-6; 9-7.

King George, Queen Mary, the Duke of York and Princess Mary again were interested spectators at the Wimbledon courts, coming especially to see the doubles event. Former King Manuel, of Portugal, and Arthur J. Balfour also were in the stands.

R. Norris Williams, of Boston, by defeating the brilliant young French player, J. Brugnon, and Charles S. Garland, of Pittsburg, by his victory over A. S. Drew, the English player, have won their way into the last eight for the singles championship.

In the second round of the mixed double, Garland paired with Mrs. Franklin Mallory (Molla Bjurstedt), lost to the Australian; Gerald L. Patterson and Madamoiselle Suzanne Lenglen, of France.

The next opponent of R. Norris Williams will be the winner of the match between Theodore Michel Mayrogardato, who is to represent Great Britain in the coming Davis cup contests, and Norton, of South Africa.

In the next round of the men's singles Tilden and Johnston will be opposed by the South African pair, Charles Winslow and Louis Raymond.

All Balls Look Alike, Says Ruth

By Babe Ruth.

(Copyright, 1920, by United News.)

New York, June 25.—We came home today to a little hard luck as far as the Red Sox game was concerned. For myself, the luck was all the other way. I succeeded in repeating on the home run stunt and bagged two of them, one in the first inning and the other in the last.

We lost, 6 to 3, because in spite of the home runs our batting wasn't as heavy as it has been.

The first circuit hit came from a high fast ball. It flashed off for my record hit for distance, and found a resting place in the right field bleachers. They tell me that it is the longest hit ever made in the Polo grounds. The second hit was from a low, slow ball, and didn't carry so far. Unfortunately there wasn't anybody on base on either occasion.

Commerce Wins in Eleventh.

Commerce, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The most hotly contested and interesting game of the season was won by Commerce in the eleventh. ATLANTAN GETS TIE IN SEMI-FINALS

New Orleans, La., June 25.—Henry Bruns, New Orleans, staged a brilliant rally just when Carolton Smith, of Atlanta, seemed to have their semi-final match in the man's singles safely tucked away bringing the match to two all for four sets when darkness overcame the players. The two decided to play off one set to decide the match Saturday morning. Bruns won the first set 6—3. Smith, the next, 6—2, 6—4, and Bruns the next, 6—4. Frank T. Payne, New Orleans, qualified for the final by defeating W. M. Quillian, Atlanta, in a close match, scores 2—6, 6—1, 6—4, 7—5.

Payne plays the winner of the Bruns-Smith match for the southern title. The Bruns-Smith match stood out as the feature of the tournament and was played before a large gallery. Practically every one here looked upon this as the real championship match as either player can beat Payne. Bruns started out with a terrific pace and won the first set handily. However, Smith came back in the next two sets working a variation of a reversed twist in his service which put Bruns on the defensive. Smith put much force behind his drives. He continued this in the fourth set, Bruns seeming to tire badly. Smith at one stage had the sets two to one in his favor and the games of the fourth set stood four to one for the visitor also. Bruns then made his brilliant "comeback" and won the next four games, forging to the front 4—5, and after going to deuce several times, finally broke through and won the set 6—4. Smith, with the games in his favor, seemed over confident, but when he realized Bruns was far from beaten, he tired badly.

Having the match practically in his grasps then let it get away took the pep out of Smith. Quillian had a chance to win his match with Payne. In the fourth set the games stood five to four in his favor and the score 40—15, but he committed two double faults which ran the set into extra games and finally went to Payne. An idea of the closeness of the match is shown in the points: Payne had 134 and Quillian 120. Smith and Mansfield, Atlanta, qualified for the finals in the men's doubles by defeating Quillian, Atlanta, and Morris, Memphis, today. Scores 6—3, 6—2, 6—1. Opponents in the deciding match will be Phelus and Bruns. The New Orleans team defeated Carey and Manning, Greenville, in the semi-finals, scores 6—1, 6—0, 6—3.

E. SCOTT SETS RECORD IN MAJORS

Boston, June 25.—Everett Scott, shortstop of the Red Sox, holds the record for participation in consecutive baseball games. When he took the field against Cleveland Scott extended to 579 the number of games in which he has played without interruption.

Several weeks ago Scott surpassed the modern record of 533 games held by Luderus, of the Philadelphia Nationals. Then baseball historians dug into the musty archives of the sport to find that George Pinckney, shortstop of the Brooklyn club of 1885-90, had taken part in 578 games in six seasons with out a break.

Scott, having played consistently since 1916, has made his record in five playing seasons, including 55 games this year, with no lay-off in prospect.

HARVARD IS VICTOR OVER YALE CREW

New London, June 25.—Harvard's brawny eight defeated Yale this afternoon in the varsity race. The feature of the annual regatta in the unofficial time of 22:56.

It was a Harvard race from the Referee's starting shout up the four-mile course to the finish, where Harvard seeming to make Yale's defeat more bitter spurted and ran up a lead of seven boat lengths of open water.

Yale fought a typical Yale fight against odds she was unable to overcome. Twice in the long race the coxswain urged his Blue crew into a spurt that closed up a one-length lead that Harvard had acquired at the mile, but every time Yale spurted the Crimson crew increased its pace.

At the three-mile mark Harvard was leading by a length, but Yale was keeping just astern with dogged perseverance. Yale, tired in the last quarter mile, while the Crimson produced a spurt that drew the Harvard snell away from the Elis in leaps.

Harvard's victory in the varsity event upset calculations for a clean sweep of the river, which was made bright in promise by the victory of the freshman and varsity junior crews in the morning events. Spent, though they were by their supreme effort to win, Yale gathered its waning strength after the finish and gave a cheer for Harvard.

Harvard was much fresher at the finish with the Yale crew lolling on its oars with downcast heads and weary arms. Stroke peters of the Yale crew collapsed at the finish.

Boorde Gets Draw With Bad Hand

Nashville, Tenn., June 25.—(Special.)—Freddie Boorde, one of the most popular featherweights appearing in a local ring, was able to hold Willie Colona, of St. Louis, to an eight-round draw Thursday night after severely injuring his right hand in the opening round with a right hook to Colona's jaw. From the first round on, Freddie was forced to depend entirely on his left hand and only feint with the injured right. Freddie used his long left in keeping Colona away and used the left left jab and straight left to Colona's chin time after time.

Colona took the offensive soon after the injury became apparent and pushed Freddie hard for the remaining seven rounds. Freddie's work with the left continually brought shouts of approval from the large audience present. Colona proved a willing mixer from the tap of the opening gong and kept Freddie going at top speed to hold him to a draw.

About fifteen hundred people witnessed the bout. Boorde is signed in the main card for the holiday show July 5. His opponent has not been selected but efforts are being made to get one of the best feathers in America here for that date to meet the Indiana Flash. The holiday card here is expected to be one of the greatest fight shows scheduled for a southern ring in many years.

Boorde and Manager Miller left Friday morning for a fight in Chattanooga, making three consecutive fights in as many days for the featherweight.

SEMI-PRO TEAMS TO BID FOR MORE SOUTHERN STARS

New Orleans, La., June 25.—(Special.)—President Heinemann has not yet started legal action against the Jackson Delta league club to which Tim Murchison, the big left-handed pitcher, and Ray Neusel, Pelican outfielder, jumped.

"When Heinemann gets ready to institute proceedings in the federal court of Mississippi, I will be glad to recommend him a first class lawyer. Our attorney has already been retained," said President Sullens, of Jackson.

"The Delta league can use a few more players, but they must be good ones. Only the stars of the Southern league need apply," he wired here today.

Qualifying Rounds of Tourneys

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

Held at East Lake and Brookhaven

Two golf tournaments opened at two Atlanta golf clubs yesterday afternoon and the qualifying rounds will be completed this afternoon, the pairing in the various flights to be announced in time for publication Sunday morning. It is believed that five flights will be filled at the Brookhaven club in the play for the J. J. Chambers-W. A. Keenan trophy, while seven flights at least are expected at East Lake, where the qualifying rounds for the F. D. Duncan-C. C. Murphy trophy are being played.

This tournament with the exception of the weekly ball sweepstakes, is the first of the summer at Brookhaven and the second this season at the country club of the Atlanta Athletic club. The Gude-Yates tournament, completed several weeks ago at the lake drew ten flights and was a very successful event. The Chambers-Keenan tourney will precede many big tournaments at Brookhaven, the most important, perhaps, being the one that will decide the championship of Atlanta, the qualifying rounds to be played early in September.

Interest in Golf.

We have been informed by the professionals at the various golf clubs of Atlanta that more people are playing golf this esason than ever before, and they expect the greatest tournaments in the history of the game locally will be played during the summer. Observing the crowds of players that throng the courses daily, the truth of these assertions must pass without contradiction.

The tournament committees of the Atlanta clubs apparently are trying to outstrip each other in providing great schedules for the 1920 season and a glance at the list of meets to be held at Brookhaven shows that the committee presided over by Frank M. Spratlin and comprising Messrs. Spratlin, Charles Elyea and Ralph Reed, has outlined a slate the club members can praise.

In addition to the Chambers-Keenan tournament, the Brookhaven committee has outlined the following schedule: "Golf Illustrated cup," Governor Board trophy, President's cup, city championship and club championship.

It is understood that all these tournaments will include handicaps in match play, with one or two exceptions made in the matches of the firts flight.

Letter From Sharkey Says He Hopes to Land.

According to information received yesterday from Philadelphia, where Jack Sharkey, one of Atlanta's well-known feathers, is seeking a place with the American fighters in the Olympic games, sports writers of the Quaker metropolis state that Sharkey stands a fair chance of crossing the pond with the Yankee battlers.

Sharkey has fought several times around Atlanta, and he has won a host friends who will wish him success in the big job he has cut out for himself. Jack was in the navy during the war and he was heralded as one of the best boys in the ranks of Uncle Samuel's sea fighters. His ring engagements locally have not been successful, as a rule, but it cannot be denied that Jack was pitted against gladiators who had all the advantage in weight. What he would do, were he matched with a boy that even approached his own size, we don't know, because the writer never recalls an instance in which this occurred.

Several Teams After Bob Higgins' Services.

This paragraph is intended primarily to notify Bob Higgins, manager of the Winder club of the North Georgia league, that the writer is in receipt of several telegrams containing offers for Sir Robert's services at figures that would make any railroad president in the country pitch up his job and select an infielder's glove.

We don't propose to make these amounts public just now to any one except Bob, but we beg that Mr. Higgins get in touch with us; these offers are entirely too tempting and we might try to impersonate Robert unless he lets this office know what he's going to do about the propositions.

Demetral and Wilson Signed for Next Card.

J. Hume McDonald, Atlanta's demon promoter of artistic ring battles, came around last night with the announcement that he had signed Jack Wilson, athletic director of the Atlanta Community service, and Young Demetral, the Anniston Greek, for a wrestling bout at Mr. McDonald's Ponce de Leon fight card Monday night. This deal had been under discussion for several days, and its consummation should be a matter of gratification to the hundreds of mat fans in Atlanta.

Mr. McDonald declared that he might match Jack Denham and Bill Bailey for one of the events that will precede the Meeghan-Morris battle, or, failing to make this connection, he would endeavor to arrange a bout between Billy Hooper, Atlanta's favorite colored middleweight, and the colored battler who gave Billy a rough time in Brunswick recently. The Atlanta fans are anxious to see Hooper exert himself, and as there seems to be no colored fighter in this vicinity capable of turning the trick, it is probable that out-of-town talent will have to be brought in. Billy is a good fighter, but he's had too easy a time with the fighters of his race around Atlanta, and the local railbirds want to see him forced to the limit.

Mr. McDonald seems to have outlined an all-star card that will prove a hummer Monday, and it is certain that the Meeghan-Morris fight alone will be worth twice the amount the fans will pay the wampum keeper at the Poncy gates. Mr. McDonald deserves a better attendance at his fights than he has been getting of late, and the fans of Atlanta should see to it that he loses no more money trying to keep the game on the high level he has maintained since arriving in Georgia more than a year ago.

Crackers Must Improve In Places, Else We're Lost.

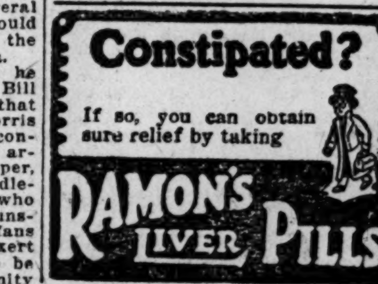

Again the old question, "What's wrong with the Crackers?" pops up, and once more are we at our wits' ends to arrive at some logical solution of the mystery. Playing a brand of ball that stamped them as champions, the Frankmen left the home port a week ago with the prospects rosy for a continuation of the victories they were piling up. Seven in a row, six from the leading teams in the Southern league, led us to believe that the locals had hit their stride, but the joy is all gone from life now, when the local hirelings have been terribly treated on the road trip by the teams that were licked so easily at Ponce de Leon.

We haven't been on the scene, and the only way we have of doping out the situation is to study the accounts of the battles. The outstanding feature is inability to hit in the pinches, and the next, dubbish fielding. There is some little excuse for the hitting. The Crackers have faced the best pitchers in the Southern league in the recent games, and a great number of bingles we had no right to look for.

We were privileged, however, to trust that the locals would not pitch game after game through erratic fielding. Half of the hits that were garnered off the Atlanta pitchers should have been halted by the Cracker outfielders, but errors of judgment came too often, and short singles were turned into triples that played havoc in the results of the games. The accounts of yesterday's game shows the tying run resulted from Wingo's effort to "shoestring" a hit that shouldn't have entitled Hengeveld to pass the initial sack. Disaster came, however, and the Little Rock pitcher is today credited with a triple. Want scoring ahead of him with the tying run.

Errors have been frequent and costly during the games with the Travelers, and some of the bobbles that caused awful damage resulted in wild throws by Fred Hager, the young Cracker catcher. Hager appears away off in his pegs to catch base stealers, and we don't recall that he ever nipped any great number of them. The infield hasn't been working in the manner it should, and its indifferent performance is certain to have a disheartening effect on the pitchers unless President Frank takes some step to remedy the bobbling evil that appears to be so prevalent in the line-up as it is at present constituted.

After the double-header with the Travelers this afternoon, the Crackers move on to Nashville, and maybe the gang will recuperate. We trust so, at any rate. The fans haven't given up hope, but it's hard to ask them to become enthused over a team that seems to be taking little interest in the matter at hand, that matter just at present being the pennant race.

The entire Monroe team played great ball. Batteries for Monroe were Morris and Walton; for Elberton, Martin and Hope. Hits, off Harris, 3; off Martin, 9.

The Ballard Make

has proven a revelation to glass wearers. Far and near vision in one solid glass—absolutely invisible while on the face, no disfiguring lines to blister, blur or cause trouble. No more looking over your glasses or taking them off to see distant objects—put them on just like you do your shoes and forget glasses.

Are all Kryptok glasses the same? No, the material from which they are made is patented, sold and guaranteed by the Kryptok Company, but after this material leaves their factory they are not responsible for the grinding and finishing, which is finished and sold by optical houses all over the country. Unless the grinding and finishing is done by an expert, your eyes carefully fitted, your face correctly measured in every detail, you will have trouble the same as buying the highest grade watch with some little something left out of it.

We have many thousand satisfied Kryptok wearers—we can satisfy you.

Rome Beaten.

Rome, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Rome got the most hits but Lindale played the better game and again defeated Rome today by the score of 7 to 4. Lindale rapped on Lowery in the first two innings for six hits and with two errors stored away five runs. Manners went good for these two innings, but then let down and pitched an uphill game, three times the bases getting full, but his team stayed behind him and Lindale would pull out of the hole. Lindale did some heady base running. Rome made two of her scores when Gross knocked the ball over the fence for a homer with Lowery on. Lindale's infield did jam-up work.

Skin Eruptions Cause Constant Torture

Disease Germs Must Be Eliminated From the Blood.

When your skin disease reaches its worst stage and the fiery burning causes you to scratch and scratch in an effort to obtain relief, there is many a sleepless night in store for you.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to be cured by the use of local treatment, such as ointments, salves, lotions, etc. Such remedies may afford some temporary relief, but you want more than relief; you want a remedy that will rid you forever of the torturing disorder.

Eczema, tetter, boils, pimples, ulcers, irritations and scalp eruptions, as well as all other forms of skin diseases, come from a disordered condition of the blood. They must be cured through the blood, and this explains why local treatment fails so absolutely.

The radical and rational treatment is to take a thorough course of S. S. S., the purely vegetable blood remedy, which thoroughly cleanses the blood of every particle of impurity. A few bottles of S. S. S. will rout out the disease germs from your blood, your complexion will begin to clear up and you will soon be rid of the disease as thousands of others have.

Get a bottle at the drug store today, write to our head physician, who will gladly give you full medical advice without charge. Address Medical Director, 612 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

Chattahoochee Circuit Begins Its Second Half

West Point, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The second half of the Chattahoochee league season will open Saturday for the deciding of the pennant winners of the 1920 season. All teams are strong and expect a hard fight in the second half of the schedule.

The first half of the Chattahoochee league season came to a close last week with the Lanett and Langdale clubs tied for first honors. West Point occupied the third place with only one game separating them from the two leaders. Fairfax and River View also hold a tie in percentage for the fourth place with Shawmutt occupying the cellar without dispute.

Fast baseball and a close race for first place till the last game made the season a decided success. All towns boasted a fast team and the race in the second half is expected to be even closer than that of the first. Each team will be required to stay within the player limit and will not acquire new players for the second half of the race. At the close of the second half the winner will meet the winner of the first half in a deciding series for the pennant.

The various club officials met at the Shawmutt cafeteria Tuesday night for a celebration of the successful season just closing. W. H. Huff, president of the league, discussed plans for the second half of the season.

CHRONIC DISEASES ARE OFTEN CAUSED BY IRON-POOR BLOOD

Indigestion, Rheumatism, Sleeplessness, Nervousness and Similar Troubles Have Been Found to Be Due in Many Cases to Lack of Iron in the Blood.

THE OBVIOUS REMEDY IS ZIRON

When doctors all agree on a certain treatment, you may be sure that a positive, scientific fact has been settled.

There is no disagreement among medical authorities as to the medicinal value of Iron, in certain forms of disease, caused by a lack of iron in the blood.

Among these diseases are anaemia (shown by a pale, relaxed condition of the skin), general debility, weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, certain skin troubles, like eczema, scrofula, etc.

But more particularly may be mentioned the chronic troubles, for which no active cause can be discovered, such as chronic dyspepsia, or indigestion after eating, rheumatic pains in the muscles and joints, inability to sleep, etc.

These troubles are often due simply to a lack of sufficient iron in the system, and the best way of treating them is to furnish the blood with the iron it needs, by taking Ziron Iron Tonic.

Ziron is not a secret or patent remedy. The ingredients are printed on the label. You know what you are taking, and your doctor will advise you as to the medicinal value of its ingredients for your particular case.

In any event, should you wish to try Ziron, you may do so without expense, if it turns out not to suit your case, which you cannot do with other medicines, or even with a prescription, for your druggist will gladly sell you a bottle, on the guarantee that the first bottle will benefit, or money back.

Ziron is a mild chalybeate (iron) tonic, containing, with other ingredients, the hypophosphites of lime and soda, and is recommended for growing children, as well as adults, who need the strength that iron, combined with the hypophosphites will give.—(adv.) (Z8)

"Atlanta has taken a leading position in southern affairs for so long a time," said A. R. Wellington, from New York, Friday, "that the entire south has acquired the habit of looking to her for guidance and example. The work of the community service in your city has been so manifestly successful, and can be so much more so under the new program dependent on the success of the present drive, that Atlanta will have served the south a good turn when the drive is announced complete and Atlanta has put the stamp of her approval on the motives of such organization."

The Kiwanis club of Atlanta has actively inaugurated its activity in the drive, and leaders in the movement expect to report 100 per cent subscriptions from the membership of that civic-commercial organization. It is also believed that 100 per cent subscription will be secured from the members of the Atlanta Athletic club, whose directors have given their approval and indorsemetn to the drive.

The negroes of the city are also hard at work on their part of the compaign, it being reported that they will secure their quota of $5,000 with little effort.

WOODMEN PREPARING FOR MINSTREL SHOW

Members of the Capital City camp degree team have been hard at work for several weeks in preparation for their minstrel. An entertaining program has been prepared. There are 10,000 Atlanta Woodmen and invitations have been extended generally.

The minstrel will be staged at Capital City's quarters, Red Men's Wigwam, 86 Central avenue.

G. A. Wright, consul commander of Capital City camp, will preside over the regular order of business, while Captain Stephens will direct the minstrel ceremonies.

FOUR NEGROES KILLED AT MOONSHINE STILL

Columbus, Ga., June 25.—(Special.) Four negro men were found murdered this afternoon at a still eight and one-half miles from Columbus, and two white men were arrested late today charged with the murder. A third man, Bernard Vardeman, surrendered to Deputy Sheriff John Beahn at 10 o'clock tonight on learning that the officers were looking for him. The dead negroes are Naff Bryan, Willie Williams, Jesse Nelson and Ollie Odom. The finding of the negroes, who evidently had been shot from ambush, aroused the section in the vicinity of the Hamilton road and all the afternoon autos from Columbus sped to the scene.

The negroes had evidently met at the still to make a run of liquor as it has been definitely established it was their property. The position of the bodies indicated they were fired upon when meeting. One negro was found some fifty yards from the others with a bullet hole in his head and briers indicated that he had fallen in these after running from the still.

The officials state that two of the white men, Goins and Hubbard, had visited two homes of the negroes Wednesday afternoon and searched their homes for liquor alleged to hav eben stolen from their still. They did not find any, however, and left, it was stated.

Wednesday night the negroes left their homes for the purpose of making liquor and their absence Thursday led the families to believe foul play had befallen them. Sheriff Beard was notified early this morning and deputies searched for some time in an effort to find some trace of the negroes. After hours of fruitless searching they were led to the still by a negro who was afraid to go there alone.

The remains of the negroes were searched and no pistols were found on them. There were no weapons found in the vicinity of the killing and no signs of a struggle, although a very heavy rain could have washed such signs away Thursday.

Vardeman stated late tonight that he would prove his innocence at the preliminary trial, which may be held tomorrow.

NEW ORLEANS FACES STREET CAR STRIKE

New Orleans, June 25.—By a vote of 2,414 to 35 employees of the New Orleans Light and Power company, which operates the street railway lines, decided to quit work at midnight June 30 on all lines and in all plants operated by the company because of the refusal of the federal receiver for the company to negotiate with the union as a whole on the question of a new wage scale.

The result of the vote was announced at union headquarters following a secret ballot which lasted all day.

This action will be immediately reported to the international officers of the street car men's union and it is believed that the action of the men here will be approved.

The strike, which will take place July 1, will completely tie up all the street car lines in the city and seriously affect the lighting and gas plants, which are operated by the same company.

JUDGE J. W. QUINCEY MEMBER FROM COFFEE

There are few members of the present house of representatives who have won to a greater degree the confidence and respect of the whole body than Judge J. W. Quincey, of Coffee county. Judge Quincey's experience as a superior court judge trained him in the art of balancing arguments for or against any matter that might come before him. He never decides to support any measure without being able to give his reasons therefor, never loses his temper in debate. Consequently when he speaks the members of the house listen.

TURKEY BALKING AT PEACE TREATY

No Document Will Be Signed That Takes Smyrna and East Thrace From the Sultan.

Constantinople, June 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Turkish peace delegation in Paris has been instructed from Constantinople that the Turkish government will uncompromisingly refuse to sign any peace treaty which deprives Turkey of the Smyrna district, Adrianople or eastern Thrace. In the main, it is indicated the government agrees with the other territorial limitations fixed by the entente, but asks that Turkey be given representation on the international commission governing the straits, and also on other commissions created for the regulation of Turkish affairs.

The Turkish government consents to have portions of Erzerum, Bitlis and Van provinces given to Armenia, but insists that Armenia's Black sea port be outside of Turkey, and asks financial compensation for the territory given Armenia.

Turkey insists that it is willing to accept a settlement according to the Wilsonian principles and the spirit of the league of nations, but declares no Turkish government could live if it signed the present treaty.

RECORDS CRACKING IN BUILDING PERMITS

With June figures in the office of city building inspector already hovering near the highest mark for any month established in Atlanta a new high record was set Friday when permits totaling $450,000 were granted to the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company and the Frank E. Block company. June, with still four more business days, shows building figures of $2,218,467. The biggest previous month of construction was October, 1912, when the total was $2,115,667.

The structure of the telephone company will house a new automatic exchange on Auburn avenue, near the present Ivy exchange at 27 Auburn avenue, Thornton P. Marye, of Atlanta, is the designing architect, and A. Dalam O'Brien, of New Orleans, is the contractor. The structure will be four stories high with a basement, and will be of reinforced concrete, ornamented with hollow tile and face brick. It will cost $400,000.

The Frank E. Block company, candy and cracker manufacturers, are enlarging their plant at the corner of Elliott street and Block place. On one wing a three-story addition will be built and on a second wing four stories will be added. Reinforced concrete and brick will be used in the construction and the improvement will cost $50,000.

Important and necessary indeed is attention to business and the progress of material affairs, but of vastly greater importance is the cultivation of the arts, the graces and the sentiments of life, for without these things all the rest is but dross and ugliness—Georges Molmeme.
